Stop-Gap Aid Bill Passed by House Without Change

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The house passed the $590,000,000 emergency foreign aid bill late today by a voice vote.

Despite six days of debate and more than 50 attempts to amend it, the bill was passed without change in the amount of money recommended by the house foreign affairs committee.

The senate had objected in advance to house changes and appointed a committee to work with house members on a compromise acceptable to both branches. The bill, as passed by the house, provides $530,000,000 for France, Italy and Austria and $60,000,000 for China to tide those countries over the winter months. The senate bill authorized the full $597,000,000 asked by the administration as aid for only the three European countries.

The house trimmed the overall total by $7,000,000 and in addition earmarked a portion of the funds for China.

Martin Pushes Bill

When the showdown came, Speaker Martin gaveled the bill to voice vote passage. Members who shouted for a roll call got in their bid too late.

Even after a compromise between the senate and house version is reached, a separate bill will be needed to appropriate the actual cash.

Before passing the measure the house got into a rousing political row between Republicans and Democrats.

Lashes at Demos

The uproar began when Republican Leader Halleck, Ind., speaking in support of the $590,000,000 measure, remarked that the Democratic administration "has terribly mismanaged the foreign affairs of this country."

Halleck added that the money is necessary only because of what he called the administration's "mismanagement." He spoke shortly after the house had adopted an amendment by Rep. Jack Z. Anderson, R., Calif., directing government agencies, chiefly the commodity credit corporation, to sell surplus products for foreign aid [illegible] which CCC officials [illegible]

Plan Made to Join 2 Drives To Aid Needy

Plans to coordinate Magic Valley's "Christmas ship" food drive for the needy in Europe with the Jaycees' "friendship train" for the needy in Twin Falls were made Thursday at a meeting of drive chairmen and Mayor H. G. Lauterbach.

"This will give persons a chance to help the needy at home and away in one general food drive," D. J. Bothne, "Christmas ship" drive chairman said.

Perishables Retained

Perishable food and small donations which are not suitable for shipment abroad will be turned over to the Jaycees for food baskets at Christmas for the local needy.

Cash donations as well as food, including wheat, flour, sugar, canned milk, dried beans, and clean, serviceable clothing will be accepted for the drives. Cash donations may be made at either of the local banks and persons may earmark their contributions for the "Christmas ship" or the "friendship train."

Shipload Sought

Mayor Lauterbach pointed out that the European program has been named the "Pacific northwest Christmas ship" and will be composed of donations from Washington, [illegible] Alaska and [illegible] friendship train [illegible] will be [illegible] chance to help [illegible] Christmas here and abroad [illegible] explained. [illegible] Mining Plant Of Local Man

An estimated $[illegible]00,000 in damage resulted from a fire and explosion at the Ima mine property near Salmon Tuesday night, according to United Press dispatches. The property is owned by R. [illegible] Tillery, Twin Falls, and was being operated under lease by the Bradley Mining company, San Francisco.

According to Associated Press and United Press dispatches from Salmon, the fire is believed to have started from a boiler explosion. Only five or six men were working in the ore separating mill at the time the fire started, according to Tillery. He said no one was injured in the fire which leveled the separating mill.

The United Press said one workman, Charles Anderson, sustained burns on his face and hands. One employe at the plant was Alfred Lewis, brother of Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Buhl.

Included in the estimate of loss is $150,000 worth of tungsten ore concentrates stored in the mill, the United Press said. Tillery said the loss was covered only partially by insurance.

Failure of telephone communications to the mine, located in an isolated area about 70 miles southeast of Salmon, resulted in delays in reporting damage caused by the fire.

Sheriff Clayton Is Named New Head Of Officer Group

RUPERT, Dec. 11—Sheriff Earl Clayton of Lincoln county was elected president of the Magic Valley Peace Officers association here last night to replace the retiring president, Sheriff Ron Hawkes, of Minidoka county.

Only other office filled at the election meeting attended by officers from the entire valley was sergeant-at-arms. Fred Abrams, chief of police at Jerome, was named to fill this office, vacated several months ago.

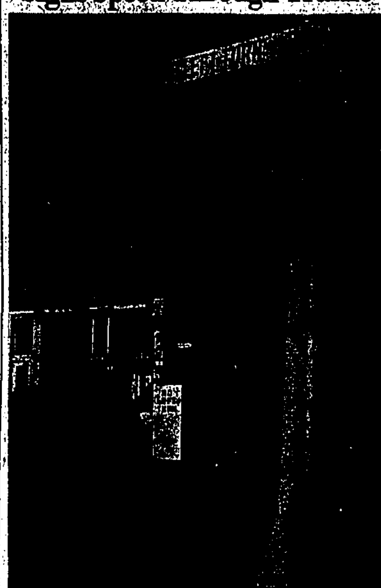
All other officers of the organization will be appointed at a later date by Sheriff Clayton.

Harmony Reigns In GOP Ranks

POCATELLO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Harmony has been restored in Republican state circles, and party leaders are looking to the future with confidence, Tom Smith, Republican state chairman, stated Wednesday in Pocatello.

The meeting of Republican county central committee chairmen held at Boise Dec. 5 and 6 agreed unanimously that there was no basis for the request made by groups in two of the state's 44 counties that the state chairman resign. Harmony [illegible]

Signs Speed Through Traffic



"No Left Turn" stanchions and signs have been installed at five major downtown intersections as a trial effort to relieve traffic congestion. Police Chief Howard W. Gillette is shown here standing near the stanchion at the Shoshone and Second avenue north intersection. Eye examinations are recommended for motorists who don't see the signs. Drivers Warned To Observe New Traffic Markers [illegible] the [illegible] pointed out that the new markers have been in place long enough for local residents to be aware of them.

The stanchions in the middle of intersections and the horizontal signs attached to street light posts on each corner have been installed for a trial period to determine whether elimination of left turns will speed up traffic movement and relieve congestion.

Left turns, previously prohibited only at the Main-Shoshone intersection, now are illegal at Main avenue and Second street west, Main avenue and Second street east, Shoshone street and Second avenues north and south, as well as at the Main-Shoshone junction.

Rome Tied by First Walkout For 25 Years

ROME, Dec. 11 (AP)—A general strike directed by leftists closed all but vital public services and railroads in Rome today, but government and labor leaders were reported to have agreed on broad general lines which might end the multiple walkout.

The chamber of labor, which called the strike in protest against unemployment, estimated 500,000 workers were made idle. It was the first general strike in Rome in a quarter century.

To Give Report

The government-labor conference at the treasury ministry lasted five hours. Later today Giuseppe di Vittorio, secretary of the Italian General Confederation of Labor, was to report on the meeting to the executive committee of the Rome provincial chamber of labor, which would have to approve any agreement.

Informants said an agreement would return strikers in Rome and Rome province to work tomorrow, or possibly earlier.

Workers Stand by

Many workers reported for duty and stood by hoping the strike would be called off before darkness. Strong police and military forces were on patrol and at stations to prevent disorders.

Light, gas and water services continued uninterrupted, as did international telephone and telegraph services. Workers in those fields were exempted from the strike call, along with hospital workers, milk and food haulers. Food stores were given permission to remain open until 1 p.m.

Woman Flier Sets Record For Aircraft

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Dec. 11 (UP)—Jacqueline Cochran, the nation's leading woman flier, today held a world's speed record for propellor-driven planes which she said was set "just for the fun of it."

"I wanted to see what was the top speed I could get out of the Mustang," Miss Cochran explained.

The top speed was 469,349 miles an hour, a new world's record for the 100-kilometer closed course and also a new women's record for the distance.

The jet plane record for the course is only 28 miles an hour faster.

The flight over the Coachella desert yesterday was supervised by Charles S. Logsdon, National Aeronautical association timer. Miss Cochran flew the same early model P-51 Mustang in which she took second in the 1946 Bendix air race to Cleveland.

Miss Cochran also holds four women's international and five women's national speed records and the U. S. women's altitude mark. She lives on the desert here with her husband, New York Financier Floyd Odlum.

Santa Claus to Collect Letters From Children Here Saturday

In the latest communication from Santa Claus at the north pole, dated 14 DEC (14 days before Christmas), he tells the kids of Twin Falls to get their letters ready for him.

A special container for the letters will be placed at the city park at 12:30 p. m. Saturday when Santa meets the children.

Boy Scouts from Twin Falls and Filer will meet at 4:15 p. m. Friday at the city park to receive a briefing on their part in the program from Edward W. Crane, Max Lloyd and Jack Roth.

Crane asks that older children avoid pushing and shoving so [illegible] to see and talk to Santa. He expects about 4,000 to be on hand to greet the visitor from the north pole.

Plans for Santa to land at the new Twin Falls airport are being arranged by Crane who has been in constant touch with him.

Santa will be met at the airport by a delegation headed by Chief of Police Howard W. Gillette who will rush him to town for a parade down Main avenue and up Shoshone street to the city park.

A free show is planned for the children at the three local theaters before the parade. In keeping with the Christmas spirit, lights in the business area were turned on [illegible]

Battles Rage In 'Old City' Of Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Dec. 11 (AP)—Jews and Arabs battled today in Jerusalem's old walled city in a continuation of the holy land strife which has taken 153 lives in 12 days.

The deaths of 20 Arabs and two Jews were reported in sporadic outbursts throughout Palestine, principally in Jerusalem and the port city of Haifa.

Troops Block Gates

British troops blocked the gates of Jerusalem's walled city, barring the passage of both Jews and Arabs who, panic-stricken by the violence touched off by the United Nations decision to partition Palestine, were moving out their possessions in army trucks.

The death toll in the whole middle east was 260.

Five Arabs were killed and about 30 were injured in Haifa by an anti-personnel bomb hurled from a small truck at a Lebanese bus and a taxi on Kingsway highway. The explosion was followed by bursts of shots.

Bomb Attack Told

A Jew was killed and another was wounded in a bomb attack on a Tel Aviv-Jerusalem bus convoy near Beith Dagan. Several Arabs were believed to have been wounded when the convoy's escort fired on a coffee-shop believed to have been the source of the bomb.

Four Arabs armed with pistols broke into the magistrate's court in the Arab city of Jaffa, held up the watchman and left with four rifles, ammunition and other articles which were court exhibits, an official source said.

In the old city of Jerusalem an Arab was slain by bullets and his mother was killed when she rushed to his assistance, an official report said.

Area Trio Hikes Polio Toll to 279; Two Get Release

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—After a lull with only one new case of poliomyelitis reported in five days, the Idaho total was pushed to 279 today when three new victims were reported to the state health department.

Added to the list were two girls from Wendell, one 8 and the other 15 years old, and a 5-year-old boy from Twin Falls.

The 14th polio death certificate for the year also was received by the health department today, Shirley Virginia Wren, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Wren, Payette. She died Dec. 2.

A 34-year-old Caldwell woman and a 2½-year-old Lewiston boy were released to their homes today from the health department convalescent center.

REPORTS THREE CASES

Three Magic Valley polio cases in three days have been reported to the southcentral Idaho district health unit, Dr. F. L. Murray, director, said Thursday.

He reported a 5-year-old Twin Falls boy was taken to Boise after initial treatment at the Twin Falls Clinic. A 7-year-old girl from Hazelton was stricken Wednesday and a 6-weeks-old boy from Jerome was taken to Boise Tuesday, Dr. Murray said.

GOPs Brush Off Truman Objection to Party's Plan; Panel Gives Okay to Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Republican leaders today brushed aside President Truman's new call for his [illegible] anti-inflation program and the house banking committee approved the GOP four-point plan late today by a 14 to [illegible]

Chairman Wolcott, R., Mich., had predicted approval by his committee and told reporters, "If the President doesn't want it, he doesn't have to take it. Enforcement of the program we propose is discretionary."

At his news conference, Mr. Truman said anything short of the program he has proposed to curb living costs will be inadequate. His program, he said, should be carried out [illegible] the letter. This included requests for standby price-wage and rationing authority.

Mr. Truman sharply criticized a Republican-sponsored proposal to relax the anti-trust laws sufficiently to permit industry to reach voluntary agreements to allocate its products and possibly to reduce prices.

There will be no relaxation of the anti-trust laws, he said, so long as he is President.

This brought a prompt comment from Senator Taft, R., O., that Mr. Truman "doesn't clearly understand" what the Republicans are proposing in a bill offered by Wolcott in the house.

"Any voluntary agreement which would call for an exemption from the anti-trust laws would have to be approved by the President or the attorney general," Taft told newsmen.

Taft, who heads the senate [illegible] policy committee, said the Republicans will make public a "full fledged" program of their own tomorrow, after it has been checked at a GOP conference.

Taft said the Wolcott bill, relying largely on voluntary action by industry and agriculture to bring down living costs, constitutes only a part of the overall GOP program.

Taft said that this [illegible] scheduled to be included [illegible] forthcoming general over-all [illegible] ment of Republican policy [illegible] at least six of the 10 points [illegible] in Mr. Truman's program [illegible]

He listed these as involving the President's requests for restrictions [illegible]

Carl Irwin Renamed Bean Growers' Head

An estimated 300 members of the Bean Growers Warehouse association attended the annual meeting of the cooperative held Wednesday in Twin Falls. Principal business was the reelection of three directors to the cooperative board. Renamed were R. K. Anderson, Twin Falls; J. S. Feldhusen, Kimberly, and Edward Reichert, Filer.

At a board meeting following the general membership meeting Carl D. Irwin was reelected president.

Association Manager Jack P. Smith, Twin Falls, said a 19-cent refund on every bag of beans handled by the cooperative in 1946 had been retained by the association for operating capital.

Smith also announced that the 1947 crop showed an increase of 60,000 bags of beans over 1946.

C. L. Wallmark, Spokane, Wash., president of the Bank for Cooperatives announced plans by the bank for the various cooperatives using its services to own the stock in the bank, now owned by the federal government.

He also explained to the group how carefully the Bank for Cooperatives invests its money and how plans were underway to rebuild the cooperative system in the Pacific northwest.

W. E. Rector, Ogden, presented an auditors' report to the assembled association.

Test Case on 'Slot' Legality Set at Capital

BOISE, Dec. 11 (UP)—A test case, designed to bring about a supreme court determination of constitutionality of actual operation of slot machines in Idaho, was filed in Ada county district court late yesterday.

A complaint charging three Boiseans—Richard J. Rutten, Frank Marcum and Ira Williamson—with gambling in operation of slot machines at the Bar "X" club here, was filed by Ada County Prosecutor James Blaine before Third District Judge Charles F. Koelsch.

Test of Legality

"This simply is a test of the constitutional provisions prohibiting lotteries," said Blaine. "If the machines are lotteries, it is better to find out before the next legislature meets. Then if the people still want slot machines an effort can be made to amend the constitution."

About two months ago, District Judge D. H. Sutphen, Gooding, held in the so-called Weiser case that slot machines were lotteries and their operation absolutely illegal despite the 1947 law legalizing them within the boundaries of incorporated cities and villages. However, Sutphen's opinion was voided when the case was dismissed apparently to prevent its appeal to the supreme court.

ACF Man Complains

The complaining witness in the Boise case was B. W. Crandell, Boise. Harry Kessler, legal counsel for the the Idaho Allied Civic forces, said Crandell was associated with his organization.

Blaine said the complaint was filed in district court to "save time." Usually such complaints are filed in lower courts. The charge of gambling hits directly at the lottery provision of the constitution, for the 1947 slot machine law exempts slot machines as gambling devices.

All-Time Top Price Paid for Local Steers

Nearly $1,000,000 in livestock went through the ring at the Twin Falls Livestock Commission company during November, Tom Callen, co-owner of the company, said Wednesday night.

Callen also reported that top price in the company's history for a carload of prime steers was paid Wednesday at the company's weekly sale for a carload consigned by Kurt Westendorf, Twin Falls. The carload sold for $27.30 a hundred pounds.

Two cars of lightweight prime steers were sold by C. D. McClain, Buhl, for $26.65 a hundred.

Three cars of short fed steers brought $25.90, $25.60 and $25.50 per hundred pounds. They were consigned by L. C. Pace, Twin Falls. Another car of prime steers consigned by Harlan See, Buhl, brought $26.60.

H. C. Jones, Eden, sold two carloads of cows for $18.80 and $18.50, a car of heifers for $23.90 and a car of cows that have had one calf for $19.75.

A single Holstein bull consigned by the Twin Falls dairy brought $412.30. The bull weighed 2,170 pounds and brought 19 cents a pound at the sale.

Callen reported that the 1,100 head sold at the Wednesday sale brought a total amount in excess of $200,000. He said the market was from 50 to 75 cents stronger on most classes and steady for cows.

Prime steers brought from $26.50 to $27.30, short fed steers $25 to $26.25, common steers down to $19, choice cows $17 to $19.75, good cows $15.50 to $16.75, canner and cutter cows $11 to $15.75, feeder cows $11.50 to $16, choice heifers $23 to $24.50, good heifers $21.50 to $22.75, common heifers down to $18, bulls $14 to $18 and veal $17 to $24.50.

French Envoy Suspended on Red Activities

PARIS, Dec. 11 (AP)—The government today suspended Lieut.-Col. Raymond Marquie, communist chief of the French repatriation mission at Moscow, and promised statements to the national assembly tomorrow on his attack against his own government.

The suspension was announced by Francois Mitterand, minister of war veterans, who said he had received a message on the case from the French charge d'affaires at Moscow calling Marquie's attack "inadmissible."

To Be Expelled

A member of Mitterand's staff said if the statements attributed to Marquie in Moscow are confirmed, the mission chief "will be dismissed and expelled from the army as soon as he gets back." Marquie was quoted as assailing his government for a "malicious attitude" toward Russia. His statement grew out of France's and Russia's expulsion of each others repatriation mission.

Marquie, identified as a communist of long standing who wants to stay in Russia, was accused by the war veterans ministry of providing incorrect figures on repatriation of French citizens.

Appointed Year Ago

The veterans ministry said Marquie was appointed to his post more than a year ago when Communist Laurent Casanova headed the ministry. The war ministry termed his rank "fictitious," saying that before the war he was a staff sergeant in the reserve.

Expulsion of the French mission was reported in a Soviet note which the French government yesterday refused to accept because of its strong language and the fact it had been published before delivery.

The foreign ministry said the French charge d'affaires in Moscow, pursuant to instructions yesterday, handed the note back to Soviet authorities. The note also protested the treatment of Soviet citizens in France.

Couple Preserved by 'Natural Icebox' for Over 2,000 Years

MOSCOW, Dec. 11 (UP)—Soviet archaeologists announced today that they have discovered the almost perfectly preserved bodies of a young girl and her slain companion, who were buried 2,000 years ago.

The bodies were located in a looted tomb in the Altai district of southwestern Siberia, where the intense cold kept the bodies from decaying.

Archaeologist S. I. Rudenko said the tomb was sealed when the bodies were buried, but that thieves apparently broke into it soon afterward. This opened the burial palace to Siberia's icy winds, and created an "ice box" that would preserve the bodies indefinitely.

Along with the bodies, scientists found cheese and other food intended to nourish the boy and girl in the after-world. The food was in such good condition that it still could be eaten.

Rudenko said that the girl, described as "beautiful," apparently died from natural causes, and that the boy with her was slain so he could accompany her on her journeys after death. He may have been a lover, servant or any unfortunate tribesman chosen for the task. Seven horses also were killed and put into the tomb for the boy and girl to ride. The boy, said Rudenko, died from a blow on the head.

Both the boy and girl were dressed in furs. He wore a false beard, she delicately-carved golden jewels.

"The find has exceptional significance to the history of world culture," Rudenko said.

The tomb, he said, was [illegible] deep.

23 Die, 6 Are Rescued After Plane's Crash

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Dec. 11 (UP)—Twenty-three persons perished and six survived—one of them to be rescued for the second time in six weeks—when an army C-54 transport plane crashed and burned near Goose bay, Labrador, Tuesday midnight, it was announced today.

Rescue workers and doctors who reached the crash scene in an icy wilderness by helicopter or dog team reported the persons who survived.

Corporal in Second Crash

Cpl. G. L. Marter, Fort Wayne, Ind., was being rescued for the second time in six weeks. The previous incident occurred while he was on duty in the remote Clyde river area of Baffin land. Suffering then from a badly infected jaw, he was taken to a hospital by a C-47 army plane which made a risky landing on ice to effect the rescue.

Public relations officers at Westover field, destination of the C-54 when it crashed, eight miles [illegible] of the Goose bay army airfield, said helicopters would be used to transfer the survivors to the Goose bay army hospital. They said the survivors later probably would be flown to Westover field.

Names of Dead Held

Names of the 23 dead were withheld pending notification of kin.

The radio message setting the number of dead and survivors was received here from Col. Paul A. Zartman, commanding officer of the air transport command at Goose bay at 10:45 a. m.

A short time previously, Zartman had informed the ATC here that the rescue party "is at the scene of the accident . . . and we believe there are some survivors."

"Extreme difficulty in communications is being encountered," the colonel's message said, "due to the rough terrain.

"The helicopter (which was assembled at Goose bay after being flown in a dismantled condition from Westover field) has landed with additional doctors one half mile from the wreck."

Driver Unhurt As Huge Truck Flattens Auto

GOODING, Dec. 11—Philip H. Cole, Boise, doesn't know how he did it but, Houdini-like, he came out without a scratch Wednesday night when his automobile was flattened like a pancake while he was in it.

Cole had just given a stalled motorist a push near the Y junction in Bliss and was turning around when it happened.

A tractor-trailer truck owned by Safeway and driven by Wesley N. Sky, Salt Yake City, in attempting to avoid a collision with Cole's car at the junction, turned, skidded and toppled over—directly on top of the Boise automobile.

According to Bliss Patrolman Tony Wolff, all of Cole's car except the spot where Cole was sitting, was compressed together tightly.

4 Die, 9 Hurt In Mishap of Texas Trains

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Four train crewmen were killed last night when two [illegible] trains collided headon and exploded in flames. Nine other persons were injured.

The two trains ran together 10 miles south of here, the locomotives stacking on top of each other and front cars telescoping.

Clearing of the wreckage was hampered by the intense heat from the burning trains.

Railroad officials said all others aboard the train had been accounted for.

Guard Called Out

Sheriff W. A. Scholl of Comal county called out the local national guard company early today to [illegible] tons of mail and express [illegible] saved from the flames.

Scholl said the wreck occurred about 11:42 p.m. when the "Katy Flyer," headed north out of San Antonio, ploughed head-on into the "Katie Limited" 10 miles south of here and 20 miles north of San Antonio. The flyer is listed as M-K-T train No. 2 and the limited is listed as No. 6.

Fire Breaks Out

Fire broke out among the [illegible] immediately after the wreck. Five of the 10 cars on train number [illegible] were demolished and three of [illegible] cars on the other train were wrecked.

Ambulances, fire equipment and police raced to the scene from here and from San Antonio. A [illegible] roads into the isolated area slowed their arrival and firemen were hampered by a water shortage.

Scholl said he had "a pretty good idea of how the wreck occurred" but did not care to discuss it publicly as yet. He said the trains were running at "scheduled speed" but did not know exactly how fast the schedule was for the section where the wreck took place.

operatives, Denver, sales agency for the convening assembly and four other cooperatives in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. It was explained that local growers participate in the sales agency as they do in the warehouse association.

President Irwin announced that a refund, amounting to approximately $13,000, would be made on the 1927-28 crops. He pointed out that about one-half cent a pound was taken from the growers' profit in 1927 in order for the association to buy new warehouses and equipment. The association is now in a position to refund the money.

Winners of a bean growing contest sponsored by the organization were announced at the termination of the meeting.

Named champion grower of Magic Valley Future Farmers of America was Arden Stutzman, Filer. LaVern Thomason, Jerome, was named runner-up.

County FFA winners were Bob Holloway, Twin Falls, first, and Raymond Bennett, Buhl, second, for Twin Falls county, and Billy Blagrey and Billy Hargis, first, and second, respectively, for Jerome county.

Valley winners in the 4-H club division were Bill Brown, first, and Ivan Barr, second. Both winners are from Hazelton.

Gooding county winners were Rulon Chandler and Ralph Prentice, in that order. Top Jerome county bean growers were Harold Brooks, first, and John Makinson, both of Hazelton. Billy Bischoff, Burley, was the only winner named in Cassia county.

Because of interest shown in this year's contest, President Irwin announced that a Magic Valley 4-H club member next year will be sent to the national 4-H club congress in Chicago and also will attend the International Livestock exposition while there.

Winner in the FFA division will attend the FFA national convention in Kansas City, Mo., and will see the Kansas City Royal stock show.

Molotov Is Faced By U. S. Demand

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP) — A firm United States demand upon Russia to halt the removal of reparations from eastern Germany confronted Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today and upon his answer may hinge the success or failure of the big four conference here.

Mr. Molotov's reply may be made at today's meeting at which the council is expected to turn its attention directly to the question of reparations—a matter which has stymied agreement for a week on a dozen other issues related to Germany's economic unification.

Authoritative government sources said that Mr. Molotov was also expected to give his reaction to reports that the U. S. and Britain have reached a tentative agreement revising last year's pact for economic fusion of the American and British zones of Germany so as to give the U. S. control over economic and financial policies.

Governors of Oregon, Washington, Montana, Alaska and Idaho have approved and endorsed the "Christmas ship" drive, Gov. C. A. Robins said "the Christmas ship project provides the tangible evidence of the true Christmas spirit and will certainly meet with general cooperation."

Ray Vanderpool, 51, Dies in Cab Of Truck on Job

Ray H. Vanderpool, 51, 316 Third avenue west, died suddenly at 2:10 p. m. Wednesday while sitting in the cab of a truck on the L. S. Stapp ranch, two and one-half miles south of Kimberly.

Mr. Vanderpool complained of a pain in the left side of his chest as he and Louis Dillon, 513 Quincy street, driver of the truck, were unloading salt at the ranch, Dillon said. He rested on some of the sacks of salt for about 10 minutes while Dillon continued unloading, then climbed into the cab where he was found dead by Dillon about one-half hour later after he had finished unloading the truck.

He was born June 4, 1896, in Waupenee, Ill., and had been a resident of Twin Falls since 1909. He was engaged in the trucking business up to the time of his death.

In addition to his widow, Mary Vanderpool, he is survived by two sons, Buell and Dewey Vanderpool, both Twin Falls, and one grandson.

Death Claims Early Settler At Age of 85

RUPERT, Dec. 11—Mrs. Abbie L. Montgomery, 85, Acequia one of the earliest white women on the Minidoka project, died at 11:40 a. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Loren Allen in Rupert. She had been ill for some time.

Mrs. Montgomery was born in North Hero, Grand Isle, Vt., March 10, 1863. She was educated in Winona, Ia., and moved to Snohomish, Wash., with her family in 1887.

She served on the school board for three years and was instrumental in securing construction of the first school. Later she taught at Jackson, Riverside, Sunnydell and Greenwood and until a few years ago was a teacher in Acequia schools. She also helped to organize the Union church and was an active church worker until two years ago when she had a stroke.

She also was a charter member of the Civic club, the Literary club, the Old Settlers association and the PTA.

Britain to Leave Palestine May 15

LONDON, Dec. 11 (U.S.)—Great Britain announced today that it plans to end its 30-year rule of Palestine on May 15, and asked the newly-established United Nations Palestine commission not to enter the holy land until shortly before that date.

Colonial Secy. Arthur Creech-Jones, in outlining Britain's plans to the house of commons, clearly feared that arrival of U.N. commission in Palestine would be the signal for new disorders—and British troops there would be in the line of fire.

Creech-Jones said that Great Britain would not use its troops to enforce the partition of Palestine, and would not share responsibility with U.N. until Britain's mandate ends.

SELLING AMERICAN POLICY

The job of telling the world about America, the real America, and selling the world on our good intentions has been sadly neglected. And what has been done about it, hasn't been done very well. Almost any American will admit that, but few have come up with any new ideas.

An exception is Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, jr. Mr. Lodge saw service with the army in Europe during the war. He has been back there twice in the last year, so he has a good idea of the before-and-after attitudes of public opinion in those countries.

Not surprisingly, the senator found that Europeans are being fed a pack of lies about our policies, intentions, and life in general. In the absence of effective rebuttal, those lies are being believed. He tells about them in some detail in the current issue of Collier's magazine, and also offers his suggestions for doing a better job.

Briefly, Mr. Lodge thinks that our salvation is to send abroad more men with experience in such fields as journalism and politics —"really political-minded" men familiar with conditions overseas and fluent in languages.

His suggestions include 13 specific steps. First he would make certain that the President and secretary of state coordinated their activities. As an example of uncoordination, he cites Mr. Truman's interview on Russian "outrages" in Hungary the same day that Mr. Marshall announced the Marshall plan, which stole the front page from the secretary of state.

He would have Hollywood block-book government films into Europe with its own products. Every time the Russians lie about us, he would have some official American spokesman counter it with a truth. He also says that the French government agency, which allocates newsprint to French papers, is anti-American, and suggests that we provide some newsprint to the French press in the hope of getting a fairer deal.

There may be some merit to all of Mr. Lodge's suggestions, but just how far, for instance, could we go in countering each Russian lie with a truth? Would some American official or prominent citizen have to rebut every Russian untruth printed in publications or spoken by publicized spokesmen, major or minor? That would be a complicated job that might degenerate into petty name-calling and prove ineffectual in the end.

The basic task, it would seem, is to create good will and a receptive audience by telling the truth about America more skillfully than the opposition lies about it. A government-called conference of leading American publicists to consider that task might not be a bad idea—if it isn't too late.

AMEN, MR. WARREN

We like the way Gov. Earl Warren of California looks upon communism.

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination has called on the American people to fight communism by "sticking to our democratic principles as the communist sticks to his objectives."

We have too many of these so-called "liberals" nowadays who take the American way of life for granted, but spend most of their time trying to pick it to pieces. They're all for changing this or that which is fundamentally American.

Instead of being strong-minded in support of their own country, they try to make themselves appear "open-minded" in consideration of other nations with different types of government.

"Nothing but firm adherence to those principles to which we have subscribed will mobilize the sufficient world intelligence and cooperative action that are necessary to prevent war," said Governor Warren. "Conflicts with communism cannot be avoided by vacillation or appeasement."

That's the kind of Americanism we like. It's good enough for us!

FOR YOUTH ACTIVITIES

As one of its spokesmen put it, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is acting as the quarterback for the team composed of all civic organizations to raise funds for youth activities.

Always a leader in youth activities and in the fight against juvenile delinquency, the Junior Chamber is now conducting a drive to raise $20,000 for that purpose.

To our way of thinking, the organization's efforts could not be channeled into more constructive lines, and money could not be raised for a better purpose.

Let's give these young men our wholehearted support!

"Washington Calling" By Marquis Childs

NEW ORLEANS—The new look of the new south is evident in this old city. What is happening in New Orleans is typical of the change that is transforming a whole region. The melody lingers on, but the magnolias and the crinolines are today associated with a tourist attraction.

Marquis Childs

The goal is to make New Orleans the focus of the commerce and industry of the whole lower Mississippi valley. The city is to become again the great port that it was a century ago. Some big strides have been made already. Although the accent is unmistakably southern, the boosters talk with the fine ardor of a mid-western Chamber of Commerce.

They are justifiably proud of their International house. Several floors of a downtown office building have been converted into a handsome club which is a center for trade with Latin America. Special emphasis has been put on the link with New Orleans' next-door neighbors in Central America.

Representatives of the port of New Orleans, including the city's aggressive young Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison, have made goodwill tours to Central America to stir up business. International house has 1,500 members instead of the anticipated 500. It is headquarters for Central American visitors who are received with flattering cordiality. The target is not Latin America alone. The boosters point to a new steamship line linking Manila and New Orleans. There is no limit on their ambition.

* * *

The changes occurring throughout the south are less obvious but no less significant. They were speeded up by World War II and the vast upheaval in the pattern of living that came with it. The rural south lost population to the north and to new industry in the south. Mechanization of cotton and tobacco farms are on the assembly line, and it is not likely they will ever go back to the farm.

As a result of this population movement, southern agriculture is being mechanized at an unprecedented rate. For example, rice in Louisiana and Arkansas is now largely harvested by combines and is dried artificially by dryers installed in recent years.

This is bringing changes in the status of the sharecropper. While mechanized work is available in the cities, he cannot be persuaded to stay on the farm without some real inducements. It means a general rise in the level of living. What is more, the Jeeter Lesters of tobacco road are not apt to operating the costly machines of modern agriculture.

Most significant of all, industry is locating plants in small communities throughout the south—close to raw materials. Often these are small branch plants of parent firms, but many are new ventures financed in the south.

These changes are inevitably reflected in the politics of the south. Compared region by region, the south has one of the ablest representatives in congress. It was no accident that Bilbo was defeated in Mississippi.

John C. Stennis—who defeated Rep. John E. Rankin for the late Bilbo's senate seat—is an able citizen who believes that the south will move forward in its own way. That does not mean he is a flaming radical. Far from it. It does mean, however, that change is possible and that the south is not forever condemned to sowbelly and to moonlight on the crepe myrtles.

In the new south such relics as Tennessee's ancient Sen. Kenneth McKellar seem out of place. Again, it was not accident that McKellar was one of the half dozen senators to vote against the European stop-gap aid program. The leaders of the new south know that America cannot slam the door on the rest of the world. They know that world trade is essential to the future development of their region.

In the past, great men and great statesmen came out of the south. There are potentialities of greatness in the new currents that are now stirring this region.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

IDAHO'S PECULIAR SHAPE

People are still wondering why Idaho has such a peculiar shape, Earl W. Murphy, secretary of the Idaho state Chamber of Commerce, said at Boise this week. Recently, Murphy said, he had received both letters and telephone calls asking how Idaho got its peculiar boundaries, especially the narrow northern "panhandle." He asked his staff to do a little research on the question, and this is what they found:

Idaho, or what is now Idaho, was originally a part of Oregon Territory which comprised all the land west of the continental divide north of Utah and Nevada. When the Washington Territory was carved out, Idaho was a part of it. Later, when Washington became a state, the present western boundary of Idaho was determined. It was generally believed that the Territory of Idaho would include all the land between the western boundary as established and the continental divide on the east, which would have taken in a part of western Wyoming and a part of western Montana.

Just where or why the surveyors went wrong may never be known, but a story prevails that a group of shrewd Helena business men decided that the new Idaho territory should not include Butte, "the richest hill on earth," Anaconda, and other lands known to contain rich ores. Had the continental divide been followed, the lush and fertile farms of the Bitter Root valley, the city of Missoula, the Flathead lake territory and most of what is now Glacier National park would have been in Idaho.

The Helena men are said to have met with others in Butte and decided to get acquainted with the surveyors. The program was worked out, and the surveyors were greeted with the utmost hospitality. The Montana group accompanied the surveyors from the point where Montana, Idaho and Wyoming join. For a time the surveyors followed the continental divide, but when they came to Gibbons pass, in Lemhi county, they took off along the Bitterroot range. The result is that by following the Bitterroots the panhandle of Idaho was narrowed until it would have come to a point had not the surveyors suddenly started north for the Canadian border.—Pocatello Tribune.

TAYLOR'S NEGATIVE VOTE

Idahoans have no more occasion to feel proud of Senator Glen Taylor's vote against the emergency aid to Europe bill than they usually do with his actions. He was joined with five other senators, some of whom like Langer have a die-hard isolationist complex.

Rolled down to its essentials the $597,000,000 was voted to feed the hungry and warm the freezing. One might argue by the hour about minor points, but the project is humanitarian, designed to relieve human suffering, with a few safeguards designed to prevent that purpose being by-passed.

Why anyone with a spark of kindness in his heart should vote against it is beyond our comprehension, and we have no more sympathy with certain house Republicans who are trying to dilly and whittle down the bill than we have for Taylor. Their ideas may be different, but the effect of what they do is the same, to deny aid to sufferers.

There will be ample ground for debate on the long range Marshall plan, and time to do it before action at the regular session. But there should be no haggling over emergency relief this winter. The world's richest nation just can't afford to be cheap and petty about that. All we can spare of food, fuel and other essentials should be semi.—Nampa Free Press.

NO EXCEPTION

There were four inquisitive brothers.

Walter stepped on the gas to see if he could beat the train to the crossing. He couldn't.

George struck a match to see if the gasoline tank on his automobile was empty. It wasn't.

Henry patted a strange bulldog on the head to see if the critter was affectionate. He wasn't.

Now the lone surviving brother swore he would never let his curiosity get the better of him—but he did. He asked a girl to marry him just to see if she was engaged. She wasn't.

What tickles a man more than finding a dime in last year's overcoat?

POT SHOTS

HUNTING IS EASY

Pot Shots dusted off the old shotgun and sneaked away to Pocatello for a little goose hunting on American Falls reservoir. There are plenty of geese left in the vicinity of the reservoir, we regret to report. In fact, there are just as many as there were prior to our little foray.

We had better luck with the hunting of which we had plenty. And so long as we're dragging around with bits case of near-pneumonia (okay, so it's just a bad case of sniffles) we aren't apt to forget about that little jaunt.

It's great sport, though. Mebbe some of you constituents know why a fella aches to go out and shiver in a clump of willows or bury his nose in a snowdrift for a couple hours. Nothing like it.

Dear Pot Shots:

I have a 1923 Indian head nickel and would like to know if they really are worth $80.

If so, I would like to know where to send the nickel so I can collect that $80.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

WASHINGTON—The fault may be ours, but it often seems to me that the professional bleeding-hearts deliberately make it difficult for the right-minded element to understand them.

We hear Frank Sinatra deploring fascism and sincerely wonder why a young man so healthy and pugnacious did not find a place on the dangerous Murmansk run or go out as a driver with some French or British ambulance outfit in the war.

Westbrook Pegler

I know of an old fellow, nearly 60, retired from the sea, who went back as the skipper of a tanker. He was soon lost, but he would snort at anyone who said today that he gave his life for human freedom. He had read some history and he was a very practical man and his idea was that if our side won, as he was confident it would, his money would keep him through a comfortable old age.

The pay was high. He gambled and lost. Nothing could be more idiotic than to suggest that he left his home and tied loose into the dangers that soon killed him to rebuke callous American Anglos for calling American Italos rude names, which seems to be Sinatra's version of our war aims.

* * *

Another I know, a young musician blind in one eye, joined up with the field service and got a medal from the Australians for swimming some of their wounded across a cold river in Italy. He shares Sinatra's feelings about the words "dago" and "wop," but because he is a young gentleman, not for fear that Sinatra might slug him when his head was turned.

Being a musician, he likes Italians and he thinks Sinatra is neither a good musician nor a representative Italo-American. His reasons for crowding into the war unnecessarily were more spiritual than the old sailor's. He was young and strong, his country was in a fight and so he went, half blind though he was.

Sinatra was strong, even athletic but had a legal right to exemption and he took full advantage of it. And yet, his authorized biography tells us that he flew seriously thinking of inciting bunches of emotional little girls to disrupt political meetings in the 1948 campaign whenever he decides that a speaker on a proposition is un-democratic. I doubt that my one-eyed young friend would stand for that. He has strong ideas on strong-arm political methods.

* * *

Sinatra's first political demonstration was made on the night that Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected for his fourth term in 1944. In the company of Orson Welles and others he toured the circuit of expensive New York saloons known as the milk route and spent some time at the political headquarters of Sidney Hillman, which were the communist headquarters, too.

Welles got shrieking drunk, and kicked up such a row in the Waldorf that a house policeman was sent up to subdue him, and did. Sinatra seems to have had hallucinations for he told a broadcaster that he had banged on the door of one who had opposed Roosevelt, intending to beat him up, but not finding him in, beat up his furniture, instead.

That was his first venture and strictly imaginary into physical terrorism. He seems to have enjoyed the fantasy for the dream of leading girlish shock-troops developed later. It seems significant that Sinatra's companion on this night was Orson Welles.

* * *

Welles, though he too is young, also was entitled to exemption. Danny Kaye, it will be remembered, a third furious theoretical defender of human liberty, was denied permission to go abroad as an entertainer when his draft board held that his physical condition and mental attitude were inappropriate.

These very important people make themselves difficult to understand.

They seem also frantic in their hatred of injustice and yet they let millions of 17-, 18-year old boys and old men of family, do the actual fighting. How could men so ferocious restrain themselves?

Welles has seriously stated that he is not a communist because he [illegible] ready to [illegible] deceived the [illegible] organizations which he approves. His actions bear out that, and probably could have been justified in court, but he managed to make himself look silly, nevertheless.

But he certainly could have thumbed his way to Britain, where thousands of ambulance and sandwagon went through it all. Or he could have sailed aboard the cargo boats, to lend a hand, somehow.

* * *

Welles, like so many others, Sinatra, Kaye and Quentin Reynolds, has really luxurious tastes. They will fastidious earrings trade. Reynolds covered the air raids in London and cashed in on the courage of the cockney in Hollywood and in ovations for cash at the ground board on the festive luncheon circuit.

His check for $2,000 for a few words of voluptuous praise for the Garrison boys was paid for ultimately in the war bonds bought by soldiers who couldn't come back until it was over, over there. In New York, Reynolds lives at the River house, the most pretentious row of flats in the United States.

He likes nice things, although he may not have them long for he is more a salesman than a writer and recently he was down to covering the hearings of the committee on un-American activities as a reporter for Marshall Field's thing.

That thing isn't the gravy train. There have been reports in Hollywood that Welles has a florist fly his flowers out all the way from southern France. That probably is a distortion of the actual truth which is that he does prefer and does enjoy beef steaks which are flown to Hollywood from the east. His asthma is such that he requires a large amount of protein. Western steaks contain protein of a sort but not enough of the right sort. The eastern steaks are just right.

Now some ignorant persons believe a man with lots of money should give liberally to the poor as the price of a voice on the subject of poverty. Welles disagrees. That would be a denial of freedom of speech. A millionaire should be allowed to feast on eastern steaks if he wants while the poor live on husks outside his very door.

A rich man should be allowed to decry poverty aloud, though he never gives a dime to charity. That,

Face Pushed in Mud, Man Saved

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 11 (AP)—Chris Sorenson, 60, a park employe, got his face pushed in the mud, and liked it.

Sorenson was standing behind a tractor which was uprooting trees when a cable gave way. The tractor lurched backward, running over him. Fellow workers dug him out of the soft mud and rushed him to the hospital.

Doctors said he was only scratched and bruised—thanks to the mud.

Pan-Am Pact Okay Heldas Jar for Russ

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

With red Russia everywhere fiercely pressing her world revolution for the establishment of communism, the U. S. senate has made momentous contribution to western hemispheric security, and consequently to global peace, by ratifying the inter-American defense treaty which was framed last summer at Rio de Janeiro.

Under this historic pact the countries of the new world would stand together to fight off attack against any one of them. Sen. Tom Connally, one of the framers of the agreement, describes it as "a long step in the direction of guaranteeing the safety and security of the American republics from aggression or attack by any power outside this hemisphere."

This agreement isn't aimed at any particular nation. It is aimed at aggression, from whatever source. However, it is significant that the American ratification comes at a tense moment in the fight against communistic aggression. It comes after numerous countries of the two Americas have been forced to take action against red fifth columnists, among these nations being the United States, Canada, Chile, Brazil, Paraguay, Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

The treaty must be ratified by two-thirds of the 19 nations which signed it at Rio. Three already have approved and the rest, most of whom have been waiting to see what action Washington would take, are expected to follow quickly.

Of course the chief strength of this treaty lies in the solidarity which it creates, rather than in the material resources which can be contributed by the smaller nations. A little state might provide an aggressor with a vital base for operations against the hemisphere as a whole. With solidarity, the United States is capable of providing the wherewithal for defense.

Bomb Suffering Not Lessening

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The atomic energy commission is suffering today from a severe case of overconfidence, according to Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia).

Hickenlooper, of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, is suffering from an acute feeling of frustration. His diagnosis is catching, and soon everybody within sputter will be feeling frustrated and down.

Sitting on maybe the greatest secret of the age, the atomic energy commission has been forced to admit this and say nothing about reports that:

1. It is about to learn how to use natural thorium—instead of uranium 235 or its offspring, plutonium—in atomic bombs. If proved, this would at least triple the world supply of nuclear explosives because thorium is three, perhaps four, times as plentiful as uranium.

2. Science can make a bomb 1,000 times more powerful than the ones used against Japan. Those bombs were equal in energy output to more than 20,000 tons of TNT. One thousand times 20,000 is 20,000,000.

Atomic Engine?

3 Development of a fast neutron plutonium reactor at Los Alamos, N. M., means it is possible to make a "vest pocket" atomic engine—anyway, an engine much smaller than the 50-tonners now envisaged.

4. Rich uranium strikes have been made in Canada, Utah, Arizona, Colorado, etc.

5. This country has sensitive radiation detection centers here and there—in Japan, say, the Aleutians, and western Germany—which would report an atomic explosion anywhere in the world. If so, the U. S. high command knows whether Russia or any other country has ever tested an A-bomb.

New Policy for Guard Promotion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A new promotion policy for national guard officers to and including the rank of lieutenant colonel was announced by Maj. Gen. Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the national guard bureau.

Under the new plan a minimum service in grade in the postwar guard, plus a rating of "excellent" will make officers eligible for promotion. Service in a similar rank during the war also may be counted toward the minimum requirement.

Teacher Resigns

RUPERT, Dec. 11—At a meeting of the Rupert school board Monday the resignation of Mrs. Henry Brensal, third grade teacher at Lincoln school, was accepted, and Marjorie Knight Mader, was hired to take her place. Mrs. Knight will take up her duties after the Christmas vacation.

The board also voted to pay off a $3,000 bond.

SELLING AMERICAN POLICY

The job of telling the world about America, the real America, and selling the world on our good intentions has been sadly neglected. And what has been done about it, hasn't been done very well. Almost any American will admit that, but few have come up with any new ideas.

An exception is Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, jr. Mr. Lodge saw service with the army in Europe during the war. He has been back there twice in the last year, so he has a good idea of the before-and-after attitudes of public opinion in those countries.

Not surprisingly, the senator found that Europeans are being fed a pack of lies about our policies, intentions, and life in general. In the absence of effective rebuttal, those lies are being believed. He tells about them in some detail in the current issue of Collier's magazine, and also offers his suggestions for doing a better job.

Briefly, Mr. Lodge thinks that our salvation is to send abroad more men with experience in such fields as journalism and politics —"really political-minded" men familiar with conditions overseas and fluent in languages.

His suggestions include 13 specific steps. First he would make certain that the President and secretary of state coordinated their activities. As an example of uncoordination, he cites Mr. Truman's interview on Russian "outrages" in Hungary the same day that Mr. Marshall announced the Marshall plan, which stole the front page from the secretary of state.

He would have Hollywood block-book government films into Europe with its own products. Every time the Russians lie about us, he would have some official American spokesman counter it with a truth. He also says that the French government agency, which allocates newsprint to French papers, is anti-American, and suggests that we provide some newsprint to the French press in the hope of getting a fairer deal.

There may be some merit to all of Mr. Lodge's suggestions, but just how far, for instance, could we go in countering each Russian lie with a truth? Would some American official or prominent citizen have to rebut every Russian untruth printed in publications or spoken by publicized spokesmen, major or minor? That would be a complicated job that might degenerate into petty name-calling and prove ineffectual in the end.

The basic task, it would seem, is to create good will and a receptive audience by telling the truth about America more skillfully than the opposition lies about it. A government-called conference of leading American publicists to consider that task might not be a bad idea—if it isn't too late.

AMEN, MR. WARREN

We like the way Gov. Earl Warren of California looks upon communism.

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination has called on the American people to fight communism by "sticking to our democratic principles as the communist sticks to his objectives."

We have too many of these so-called "liberals" nowadays who take the American way of life for granted, but spend most of their time trying to pick it to pieces. They're all for changing this or that which is fundamentally American.

Instead of being strong-minded in support of their own country, they try to make themselves appear "open-minded" in consideration of other nations with different types of government.

"Nothing but firm adherence to those principles to which we have subscribed will mobilize the sufficient world intelligence and cooperative action that are necessary to prevent war," said Governor Warren. "Conflicts with communism cannot be avoided by vacillation or appeasement."

That's the kind of Americanism we like. It's good enough for us!

FOR YOUTH ACTIVITIES

As one of its spokesmen put it, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is acting as the quarterback for the team composed of all civic organizations to raise funds for youth activities.

Always a leader in youth activities and in the fight against juvenile delinquency, the Junior Chamber is now conducting a drive to raise $20,000 for that purpose.

To our way of thinking, the organization's efforts could not be channeled into more constructive lines, and money could not be raised for a better purpose.

Let's give these young men our wholehearted support!

THE AUDIENCE WAITS

Though the big four foreign ministers have changed the setting of their peace conference to London, the same old controversies would seem that deadlocked them in Paris . . . A new audience would doubtless . . . few less changes of scenery, and . . . changes in the script.

"Washington Calling" By Marquis Childs

NEW ORLEANS—The new look of the new south is evident in this old city. What is happening in New Orleans is typical of the change that is transforming a whole region. The melody lingers on, but the magnolias and the crinolines are today strictly a tourist attraction.

The goal is to make New Orleans the focus of the commerce and industry of the whole lower Mississippi valley. The city is to become again the great port that it was a century ago. Some big strides have been made already. Although the accent is unmistakably southern, the boosters talk with the fine ardor of a mid-western Chamber of Commerce.

They are justifiably proud of their International house. Several floors of a downtown office building have been converted into a handsome club which is a center for trade with Latin America. Special emphasis has been put on the link with New Orleans' next-door neighbors in Central America.

Marquis Childs

Representatives of the port of New Orleans, including the city's aggressive young Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison, have made good will trips to Central America to stir up business. International house has 1,500 members instead of the anticipated 500. It is headquarters for Central American visitors, who are received with flag waving cordiality. The target is not Latin America alone. The boosters point to a new steamship line linking Manila and New Orleans. There is no limit on their ambition.

The changes occurring throughout the south are largely obvious. No less significant, they were speeded up by World War II and the vast upheaval in the pattern of living that came with it. The rural south lost population to the north and to new industry in the south. Former sharecroppers and tenant farmers are, on the whole, better off, and it is not likely they will ever go back to the farm.

As a result of this population movement, southern agriculture is being mechanized at an unprecedented rate. For example, rice in Louisiana and Arkansas is now largely harvested by combines and is dried artificially by dryers installed in recent years.

This is bringing changes in the status of the sharecropper. With attractive employment available in the big cities, he is demanding more than the farm—without some real inducements, it means a general rise in the level of living. What is more, the Jeeter Lesters of tobacco road are not up to operating the costly machines of modern agriculture.

Most significant of the industry is locating plants in small communities throughout the south—close to raw materials. Often these are small branch plants of northern firms, but many are new ventures financed in the south.

These changes are inevitably reflected in the politics of the south. Compared region by region, the south has one of the ablest representatives in congress. It was no accident that Bilbo ism was defeated in Mississippi.

John C. Stennis—who defeated Rep. John E. Rankin for the late Bilbo's senate seat—is an able citizen who believes that the south will move forward in its own way. That does not mean he is a flaming radical. War won it. It does mean, however, that change is possible and that the south is not forever condemned to sowbelly and to moonlight on thp crepe myrtles.

In the new south such relics as Tennessee's ancient Sen. Kenneth McKellar seem out of place. Again, it was not accident that McKellar was one of the half dozen senators to vote against the European stop-gap aid program. The leaders of the new south know that America cannot slam the door on the rest of the world. They know that world trade is essential to the future development of their region.

In the past, great men and great statesmen came out of the south. There are potentialities of greatness in the new currents that are now stirring this region.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

IDAHO'S PECULIAR SHAPE

People are still wondering why Idaho has such a peculiar shape. Earl W. Murphy, secretary of the Idaho state Chamber of Commerce, said at Boise this week. Recently, Murphy said, he had received both letters and telephone calls asking how Idaho got its peculiar boundaries, especially the narrow northern "panhandle." He asked his staff to do a little research on the question, and this is what they found:

Idaho, or what is now Idaho, was originally a part of Oregon Territory which comprised all the land west of the continental divide north of Utah and Nevada. When the Washington Territory was carved out, Idaho was a part of it. Later, when Washington became a state, the present western boundary of Idaho was determined. It was generally believed that the Territory of Idaho would include all the land between the western boundary as established and the continental divide on the east, which would have taken in a part of western Wyoming and a part of western Montana.

Just where or why the surveyors went wrong may never be known, but a story prevails that a group of shrewd Helena business men decided that the new Idaho territory should not include Butte, "the richest hill on earth," Anaconda, and other lands known to contain rich ores. Had the continental divide been followed, the lush and fertile farms of the Bitter Root valley, the city of Missoula, the Flathead lake territory and most of what is now Glacier National park would have been in Idaho.

The Helena men are said to have met with others in Butte and decided to get acquainted with the surveyors. The program was worked out, and the surveyors duly greeted with the utmost hospitality. The Montana group accompanied the surveyors from the point where Montana, Idaho and Wyoming join. For a time the surveyors followed the continental divide, but when they came to Gibbons pass, in Lemhi county, they took off along the Bitterroot range. The result is that by following the Bitterroots the panhandle of Idaho was narrowed until it would have come to a point had not the surveyors suddenly started north for the Canadian border.—Pocatello Tribune.

TAYLOR'S NEGATIVE VOTE

Idahoans have no more occasion to feel proud of Senator Glen Taylor's vote against the emergency aid to Europe bill than they usually do with his actions. He was joined with five other senators, some of whom like Langer have a die-hard isolationist complex.

Boiled down to its essentials the $597,000,000 was voted to feed the hungry and warm the freezing. One might argue by the hour about minor points, but the project is humanitarian, designed to relieve human suffering, with a few safeguards designed to prevent that purpose being by-passed.

Why anyone with a spark of kindness in his heart should vote against it is beyond our comprehension, and we have no more sympathy with certain house Republicans who are trying to delay and whittle down the bill than we have for Taylor. Their ideas may be different, but the effect of what they do is the same, to deny aid to sufferers.

There will be ample ground for debate on the long range Marshall plan, and time for it before action at the regular session. But there should be no haggling over emergency relief this winter. The world's richest nation just can't afford to be cheap and petty about that. All we can spare of food, fuel and other essentials should be sent.—Nampa Free Press.

NO EXCEPTION

There were four inquisitive brothers.

Walter stepped on the gas to see if he could beat the train to the crossing. He couldn't.

George struck a match to see if the gasoline tank on his automobile was empty. It wasn't.

Henry patted a strange bulldog on the head to see if the critter was affectionate. He wasn't.

Now the lone surviving brother swore he would never let his curiosity get the better of him—but he did. He asked a girl to marry him just to see if she was engaged. She wasn't!

What tickles a man more than finding a dime in last year's overcoat?

POT SHOTS

HUNTING IN EAST

Pot Shots dusted off the old shotgun and sneaked away to Pocatello for a little goose hunting on American Falls reservoir. There are plenty of geese left in the vicinity of the reservoir, we regret to report. In fact, there are just as many as there were prior to our little foray.

We had better luck with the hunting of which we had plenty. And so long as we're dragging around with this case of near-pneumonia today, so it's just a bad case of sniffles) we aren't apt to forget about that little jaunt.

It's great sport, though. Mebbe some of you constituents know why a fella aches to go out and shiver in a clump of willows or bury his nose in a snowdrift for a couple hours. Nothing like it.

LOTTA WIDOWS

Dear Poisy:

From reading the Times-News social page, I gather that there are quite a large number of widows in Magic Valley.

It has always been my impression that the correct form of a married woman's name is "Mrs. John Smith," while the correct procedure for a widow is to use her own first name, thusly: "Mrs. Mary Smith."

Or maybe all the gals are ashamed of their husbands' first names, huh?

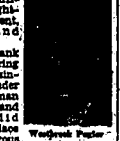
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

WASHINGTON—The fault may be ours, but it often seems to me that the professional bleeding-heart deliberately seeks to make it difficult for the right-minded element to understand them.



Westbrook Pegler

We hear Frank Sinatra deploring fascism and sincerely I wonder why a young man so healthy and pugnacious did not find a place on the dangerous Murmansk run or go out as a driver with some French or British ambulance outfit in the war.

I know of an old fellow, nearly 60, retired from the sea, who went back as the skipper of a tanker. He was soon lost, but he would snort at anyone who said today that he gave his life for human freedom. He had read some history and he was a very practical man and his idea was that if our side won, as he was confident we would, his money would keep him through a comfortable old age.

The pay was high. He gambled and lost. Nothing could be more idiotic than to suggest that he left his home and tied loose into the dangers that soon killed him to rebuke callous American Anglos for calling American Italos rude names, which seems to be Sinatra's version of our war aims.

• • •

Another I know, a young musician blind in one eye, joined up with the field service and got a medal from the Australians for swimming some of their wounded across a cold river in Italy. He shares Sinatra's feelings about the words "dago" and "wop," but because he is a young gentleman, not for fear that Sinatra might slug him when his head was turned.

Being a musician, he likes Italians and he thinks Sinatra is neither a good musician nor a representative Italo-American. His reasons for crowding into the war unnecessarily were more spiritual than the old sailor's. He was young and strong, his country was in a fight and so he went, half blind though he was.

Sinatra was strong, even athletic but had a legal right to exemption and he took full advantage of it. And yet, his authorized biographer tells us that he now seriously thinks of inciting bunches of emotional little girls to disrupt political meetings in the 1948 campaign whenever he decides that a speaker on a program is un-democratic or that any one-eyed young friend would stand for that. He has strong ideas on strong-arm political methods.

• • •

Sinatra's first political demonstration was made on the night that Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected for his fourth term in 1944. In the company of Orson Welles and others he toured the circuit of expensive New York saloons known as the milk route and spent some time at the political headquarters of Sidney Hillman, which were the communist headquarters, too.

He got shrieking drunk, and picked up such a load of Wallace that a house policeman was sent up to subdue him, and did. Sinatra seems to have had hallucinations for he told a broadcaster that he had seen the door of one who had opposed Roosevelt, intending to beat him up, but not finding him in, beat up his furniture, instead.

That was his first venture and strictly imaginary into physical terrorism. He seems to have enjoyed the fantasy for the dream of leading girlish shock-troops developed later. It seems significant that Sinatra's companion on this night was Orson Welles.

• • •

Welles, though he too is young, also was entitled to exemption. Danny Kaye, it will be remembered, a third furious theoretical defender of human liberty, was denied permission to go abroad as an entertainer when his draft board held that his physical condition and mental attitude were inappropriate.

These very important people make themselves difficult to understand.

They seem also frantic in their hatred of injustice and yet they let millions of others, 18-year old boys and old men of family, do the actual fighting. How could men so ferocious restrain themselves?

Welles has seriously stated that he is not a communist because he detests communism, as an enemy of democracy which he respects. He is ready to spend enormous sums through organizations which he approves, the suffers badly from asthma and probably would have been exiled even if he had ever managed to make this any of our fighting services.

But he certainly could have thumbed his way to Britain, where thousands of asthmatics and weaklings went through it all. Or he could have sailed aboard the cargo boats, to lend a hand, somehow.

• • •

Welles, like so many others, Sinatra, Kaye and Quentin Reynolds, has really luxurious tastes. They are all fastidious carriage trade. Reynolds covered the air raids in London and cashed in on the courage of the cockney in Hollywood and in orations for cash at the board on the festive luncheon circuit.

His check for $2,000 for a few words of voluptuous praise for the Garrison boys was paid for ultimately by the war bonds bought by soldiers who couldn't come back until it was over, over there. In New York, Reynolds lives at the Ritz Towers, the most pretentious row of flats in the United States.

He likes nice things, although he may not have them long for he is more a salesman than a writer and recently he was down to covering the hearings of the committee on un-American activities as a reporter for Marshall Field's thing.

That thing isn't the gravy train. There have been reports in Hollywood that Welles has a florist fly his flowers out all the way from southern France. That probably is a distortion of the actual truth which is that he does prefer and does enjoy best steaks which are flown to Hollywood from the east. His asthma is such that he requires a large amount of protein. Western steaks contain protein of a sort but not enough or the right sort. The eastern steaks are just right.

Now some ignorant persons believe a man with lots of money should give liberally to the poor as the price of a voice on the subject of poverty. Welles disagrees. That would be a denial of freedom of speech. A millionaire should be allowed to feast on eastern steaks flown west while the poor live on husks outside his very door.

A rich man should be allowed to decry poverty aloud, though he never gives a dime to charity. That, too, is a free freedom out against the constitution, and any man who tries to muzzle Welles is a fascist.

• • •

So Orson Welles, fresh as a daisy from the row that pumped over the mason, even while it believes in his angry (frabjous) opinions, is entitled to speak his mind. He certainly does not have to explain himself to us and we misunderstand and some of us may actually dislike him.

But the point is that it is all a free country and Orson Welles, thinks anyone who is so stupid as to have to ask for explanations is too ignorant to understand the point of view. That is snobbish of the boy.

During the war he was implored, one night to preside at a rally at the Hollywood Bowl. Hedy Morgenthau, himself, made the request. He agreed, only on condition that an escort of secret service agents be sent to take him there and see him home.

There weren't enough agents on hand, and the situation finally was saved only when a number of Los Angeles police who were off duty, by the war bonds bought by soldiers who couldn't come back until it was over, over there. In New York, Reynolds lives at the Ritz Towers, the most pretentious row of flats in the United States.

He likes nice things, although he may not have them long for he is more a salesman than a writer and recently he was down to covering the hearings of the committee on un-American activities as a reporter for Marshall Field's thing.

Face Pushed in Mud, Man Saved

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 11 (AP)—Chris Sorenson, 60, a park employe, got his face pushed in the mud, and liked it.

Sorenson was standing behind a tractor which was uprooting trees when a cable gave way. The tractor lurched backward, running over him. Fellow workers dug him out of the soft mud and rushed him to the hospital.

Doctors said he was only scratched and bruised—thanks to the mud.

Northwestern Power Plans Are Outlined

BAKER, Ore., Dec. 11 (AP)—The department of interior described a far-flung program for raising the Pacific Northwest's industrial, power, agricultural, and mineral output to new heights by 1960.

Among the projects which might be included is a Hell's canyon dam, which would be the highest in the world and help finance irrigation projects in other northwest areas.

The 12-year program, outlined at a Columbia basin interagency committee meeting here, would irrigate 1,800,000 acres of land, add 5,000,000 kilowatts of power, and seek other improvements ranging from diversified forestry to fish conservation.

R. J. Newell, Boise, chairman of the committee, said the construction necessary to achieve these ends would cost $300,000,000 a year. The money would be repaid through sale of power and water and tax revenue.

Projected

He listed the construction work which should be completed by 1960 as follows:

Columbia Basin project in Washington.

Hungry Horse project in Montana.

Another large upstream storage and power dam in the northern part of the region.

A large upstream storage and power dam in the Snake canyon.

Willamette valley basic project (water storage, flood control, navigation, power).

Mountain Home irrigation project.

Palisades reservoir project, Idaho-Wyoming.

A number of smaller irrigation projects.

He said at least "substantial progress" should be made on these other projects:

Four lower Snake river dams; The Dalles dam; supplemental irrigation in the Willamette and other valleys west of the Cascades, and mid-Columbia-lower Snake irrigation projects.

Speakers from the bureau of reclamation and the army engineers said their groups favor a high dam at Hell's canyon on the Snake river as one of the power projects in the northwest development program.

A 742-foot structure—highest in the world—is tentatively planned, E. N. Torbert, planning director of the bureau of reclamation, told the meeting.

To Provide Funds

Torbert said the dam would have an installed power capacity of 900,000 kilowatts, and—through sale of electricity—would provide funds for irrigation projects, such as the Baker project; Grande Ronde project; Mountain Home project, Payette unit; Crooked river project; Weiser river projects, and Avie-Bully creek projects.

The dam, its proposed location lying about 104 miles downstream from Weiser, Idaho, near the upper end of the Grand Canyon of the Snake river, would be 1,740 feet long at the crest, an arch-gravity type like the Hoover dam, with a storage capacity of nearly 4,500,000 feet.

Col. Theorn D. Weaver, north Pacific division engineer, said the engineers favored the Hell's canyon site, but were also considering lower dams which could be built one by one at a lower cost. They would not, however, furnish as much power, Weaver said.

The department of interior's overall program, released by Newell and described personally by Roy Beasey, is based on the belief that the Pacific northwest will gain 600,000 to 1,100,000 more inhabitants by 1960.

Beasey, executive director of the Pacific northwest coordinating committee on inter-department agencies, said the northwest will need 6,000,000 kilowatts of power by 1953 and more than 8,000,000 by 1960. The present peak is over 3,000,000.

Unionists Shelve CIO Resolution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — State labor commissioners and union leaders representing more than 40 states shelved a CIO resolution proposing endorsement by the group of recommendations recently made by the president's committee on civil rights.

The group, however, passed a resolution urging expansion of the federal wage-hour law to include a 75-cent hourly minimum wage (it is now 40 cents) and inclusion of workers under the law who are now exempt.

For Season of Year's Most,' Boyle Picks Out Few Oddities

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—The year 1947 probably will go down in history as the one in which Uncle Sam became the pawnbroker of western civilization.

A backward glance discloses it also had its odd accomplishments in many other fields of endeavor. Our nominations:

Hal Boyle

The man who did most for posterity: The Siamese Prince Singha, who died worn out in the service of mankind leaving 180 wives, 24 recognized families and more than 800 children. No man tried harder to be the father of his country.

The most interesting homicide: The case of the 33-year-old Baltimore husband who strangled his 53-year-old tattooed bride because she beat him up and insisted on showing her tattoos to admiring sailors.

Runner-up: The man who killed his wife because she made him say, "Pretty please."

The most depressing single statistic: The American Telephone and Telegraph company's statement that the United States held 42,000,000,000 telephone conversations the previous year—301 for each inhabitant. No figure was given on how many were wrong numbers.

The man who did most to worry school children: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis M. Kenny, Malone, N. Y., who announced he had found a way to trisect an arc, a feat held impossible by mathematicians for centuries.

The most reasonable husband of the year: The 69-year-old Californian who sought an annulment for divorce from the wife he never had seen since he kissed her goodbye in 1900 on his induction into the army two hours after his marriage.

The hottest issue at the polls—The question of whether to allow Sunday movies in Parryville, Pa. Citizens decided yes, 55 to 47, although the village has no theater.

Most dismaying development in the field of outdoor sport: Breeding of a new type ferocious rabbit that bites anything that comes near and also can punch with either paw.

Most uncompromising figure in international labor strife: Luigi Bellini who conducted a one-man strike that left the village of Selva, Italy, in darkness. He had been refused a 10-cent-a-year wage increase for throwing the switch that supplies electrical power.

British war bride who has best chance of success in America: Mrs. Jean Tilton, who took one look at Brooklyn from the porthole of her ship—and fainted with joy.

NACA Engineer Will Get Trophy

Rodert is chief of flight research at the NACA flight propulsion research laboratory at Cleveland, Ohio. The NACA is the government's aeronautical research agency.

President Truman will present the trophy to Rodert at the White House on Dec. 17.

WHITEHEAD HONORED

FORT SHAFTER, Hawaii, Dec. 11 (AP)—Don Whitehead, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Honolulu, was presented the medal of freedom today for "meritorious achievement" as a war correspondent in Europe. Ken-Am Pact Okay Held as Jar for Russ

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

With red Russia everywhere merely dreaming her world revolution for the establishment of communism, the U. S. senate has made a momentous contribution to western hemisphere security and consequently to global peace, by ratifying the inter-American defense treaty, which was framed last summer at Rio de Janeiro.

Under this historic pact the countries of the new world would stand together to fight off attack against any one of them. Sen. Tom Connally, one of the framers of the agreement, describes it as "a long step in the direction of guaranteeing the safety and security of the American republics from aggression or attack by any power outside this hemisphere."

This agreement isn't aimed at any particular nation. It is aimed at aggression, from whatever source. However, it is significant that the American ratification comes at a tense moment in the fight against communist aggression. It comes after numerous countries of the two Americas have been forced to take action against red fifth columnists, among these nations being the United States, Canada, Chile, Brazil, Paraguay, Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

The treaty must be ratified by two-thirds of the 19 nations which signed it at Rio. Three already have approved and the rest, most of whom have been waiting to see what action Washington would take, are expected to follow quickly.

Of course the chief strength of this treaty lies in the solidarity which it creates rather than in the material resources which can be contributed by the smaller nations. A little state might provide a gressor with a vital base for operations against the hemisphere as a whole. With solidarity, the United States is capable of providing the wherewithal for defense.

Hope Diamond "Curse" Being Held by Vault

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—The Hope diamond—at least for the present—is powerless to add a new chapter to its two-century-old legend of misfortune for its wearers.

Executors of the estate left by Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean took charge of the "jinxed" gem and her other assets at the time of her death nearly eight months ago.

Settling Affairs

They locked the gleaming 44½-carat pendant in a downtown bank vault and went about the legalistic labors of settling affairs of the Colorado gold miner's daughter who became the capital's most famous hostess.

No one has worn the jewel since Mrs. McClean's death. And no one is likely to wear it for a least another 19 years when—in accordance with her will—her grandchildren will share equally in the bulk of her estate.

Scoffed at Rumors

Throughout her life—in good and bad—Mrs. McLean scoffed at rumors that the stone brought her misfortune. But she had a priest bless the gem to dispell any curse, and never once did she let one of her four children touch it.

Once she pawned for $37,500 the gem which cost her $154,000. But she always refused to sell it.

Now, as in her lifetime, the stone seems likely to remain intact among her belongings long after other assets have been liquidated.

Idahoan's 'Idea' May Aid Curbs For Delinquency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The suggestion of an Idaho marshal may result in improved treatment of juvenile delinquents.

United States Marshall Everett Evans brought a prisoner here from Boise, Ida., Tuesday and remained to talk with Attorney General Clark and Senator Taylor, D., Ida., about juvenile delinquents.

For some time there has been authorization for placing accused juveniles in places other than jails, but there has been no appropriation for expenses of such care.

Evans told Clark the authority could be made effective in Idaho with an expenditure of between $1,000 and $2,000 a year.

He said those youths might be paroled to responsible citizens pending trial rather than go to jail.

Under present conditions, he told Clark, they get a "first class education in crime."

An aide to Taylor said Clark approved the idea and added that, while no money to carry out the project is presently available, the justice department would ask an allowance for this purpose in its budget for the year beginning July 1.

Mississippi Will Respect Mandate

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 11 (AP)—Gov. Fielding L. Wright said Mississippi will respect a United States supreme court mandate that Negroes must be included on jury lists, but will continue to act "as a sovereign state."

His comment was on Monday's supreme court decision reversing the conviction of Eddie (Buster) Patton, Negro charged with the murder of a white man. Basis of the reversal was that racial discrimination excluded Negroes from jury duty in Mississippi.

The governor in a prepared statement said Negroes in Mississippi are satisfied with the courts.

West Governors Study Problems, Politics for 1948

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Eight western governors met here today for a series of non-partisan conferences, but the big question was whether they could keep their thoughts away from 1948 politics.

Observers focused attention on California's Earl Warren as the state chief executives assembled for their second annual regional meeting.

Governors expected for the meeting are John B. Hall, Ore.; Herbert Maw, Utah; Mon Wallgren, Wash.; Vail Pittman, Nev.; C. A. Robins, Ida.; Sam Ford, Mont.; Ernest Gruening, Alaska, and Warren.

The governors were scheduled to consider a wide range of regional economic problems as they meet concurrently with a conference of the Pacific coast board of intergovernmental relations.

The board plans to study among other things the possible implications of the European recovery plan on western economy.

The governors and federal, state and local agency representatives attending the board meeting also have mutual problems dealing with population and migration, unemployment and public housing on their agenda.

Fight Followers Believe Washington Stepping Out of Class Against Hansford

Sporting followers here this week-end, including Georgie Hansford, the Los Angeles veteran, whom he will fight in the main event of the VFW ring card at the high school gymnasium Saturday night, are of the opinion that Buddy Washington, the Pocatello lightweight flash, is stepping a bit too fast in his pugilistic career in taking on a ring foe of the class of Hansford.

"I believe Buddy has champion ship possibilities," said Yarbrough, "and for that reason I don't see why he isn't handled a bit more carefully."

Yarbrough said that a boxer who has just turned 17 has little business in a ring with a battler who has lost a slow decision to Manuel Bolonca, ranked right behind Champion Ike Williams among the lightweights.

"Perhaps, Buddy's manager knows something that we don't," he added, "but I believe that Washington is rushing the fighter along too fast."

Frankie Stanger, who promotes the local boxing cards, announced that Glover tournaments had been called that Allie Stolz, against whom Hansford once defeated Lee Savage, sidestepping to line up a bout good enough to command the services of Joe Louis, Bobby Besbes, for whom his card only a month ago, Pilot Billy Conn and Tami Mauriello, heavyweight best Nick Moran, too, and "my book Moran was a pretty fair fighter," said Stanger. "So were Lulu Constantino and Chalky Wright, the ex-featherweight champion, over whom Hansford claims victories."

Stanger also noted that the Los Angeles boxer defeated Cleo Shans, who fought Henry Armstrong several hard battles when the bright champion was in his prime.

"Oh, I'm not worried," said Bell. "We'll have a good boy for Sunday."

Kay Scatters Pins for 627 In Minor Loop

George Kay scattered strikes all over the Bowladrome last night and came up with his second "600" total of the season when he smacked the maples for 627, including games of 200, 237 and 190 in the Minor league.

The Coca Cola team just missed a 2,000 scratch game when V. Price rolled 205, M. Morrey 208, B. Craft 208 and Ima Cowham 254, but E. Clowbam could get only 138 and the team had to be content with 965.

Sugar Robinson Scores Knockout

ELIZABETH, N. J., Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Sugar Ray Robinson, New York, world welterweight champion, stopped Billy Nixon, 148, Philadelphia, last night with a technical knockout in the Eastern boxer's ring fight [illegible] the sixth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Referee Walter Bolish [illegible] the bout.

On the SPORT FRONT With YOSS

(The Fudgy One)

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener notes with much delight that a Magic Valley boy was one of the leading pitchers in the American association last season and you know the association is just a step from the majors.

That pitcher was Earl Toolson of Burley, who got his start in high school and American Legion baseball under Rulon Budge, the popular Bobcat coach.

According to the averages carried in the Sporting News, the baseball bible, Earl was eighth among more than 100 hurlers in the circuit in effectiveness, finishing with an earned run percentages of 3.16. And that's something considering that he was the Louisville Colonels' No. 1 relief hurler, going in to save games.

And his won and lost record was good—11 victories and only six defeats for a .647 percentage.

Who Said No Ducks?

What's become of the guys who predicted there wouldn't be any ducks this year?

From what YOSS hears there are more this season than in the last six and, too, there are an abundance of geese—if you can get to them.

Ducks have become so commonplace in Georgs Hays, the Rupert coach, that he concentrates entirely on geese now. And in hunting that xmas covered fowl, he's far ahead of last season when he shot well up in the 20s.

Want DiMaggio

The Pocatello fans are campaigning to bring Vince DiMaggio, brother of the American league's most valuable player—Joe—to that city as manager of the Cardinals. That means President Maury Doerr will have to press his campaign for Johnny Sturm, who played first base for the Yanks' championship teams, as the Cowboy pilot. The Magic Valley would like to have an ex-major leaguer as manager, too.

Not So Bad

The Bruins might have a basketball team after all. They didn't look so bad to the ancient word puddler as he inspected in their game against Oakley.

The Long-Hendrix-Cooper-Kleinkopf combination show flashes of basketball brilliancy at times and if they'll just find out that they can really play the cage game the season may not wind up so bad after all.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: If you'll telephone Willard Lattimer at Eden 2567 or John Keech at the Eden high school you'll probably wind up with a basketball game if you are looking for one. They've organized a team of Hazelton and Eden stars.

More Candidates For Golden Glove Event Work Out

More than a dozen Golden Gloves worked out at the Twin Farm Labor Camp auditorium Tuesday. Trainers S. K. Mattson and Loyal Smith expect the number to be even larger when the third session is held Thursday night. A bus will take the boxers to the camp at 7:10 p.m., leaving from the Perrine hotel.

Mrs. Vazquez Tops Women Bowlers

Mrs. Lola Vazquez continued to lead the Women's Magic City league in high average with 185 but Mrs. Kay Hoover is only one point behind, Mrs. Rebe Henry two and Mrs. Ruth Rogers three. They are the only bowlers with an average of better than 180.

Mrs. Vazquez also has the high game, 222, and high three, 566, while the Twin Falls Motors' 2,952 is the best team total and the Gem State Oils' 857 the top single game.

The team standings:

Coca Cola	18	22	.450

L. Stewart, with 143, is the high average leader in the Women's Minor league followed by B. Morrey with 141 and L. Montgomery with 138. B. Morrey's 504 is the best total and H. Carter's 193 the No. 1 single game. Carter's Draperies have the best single game, 438, and best total, 1,244.

Crippled Kids Find 'Santa' Is Great Babe Ruth

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—A man in a red suit and long white whiskers played Santa Claus for 60 crippled children at a Christmas party in the Hotel Astor here and began autographing baseballs.

"I want to take this opportunity to wish all young children, not only in America but all over the world, a merry Christmas," he said.

The autographed baseballs were distributed as prizes in games played by the children—all polio victims — during the party, which was given by the Sister Kenny foundation.

When the winners examined their baseball prizes they found the autographs read: "Babe Ruth."

Red Sox Lure Spence From Senator Club

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced the purchase of Pitcher Elmer Riddle from the Cincinnati Reds for the waiver price of $10,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Joe Cronin-Joe McCarthy combination exploded another Boston Red Sox bombshell on the alarmed American league by luring outfielder Stan Spence from Washington for second baseman Al Kozar and outfielder Leon Culberson.

Although this two-for-one deal involving a minor league infielder and a run-of-the-mill outfielder for an established regular won't seem to call for a cash outlay by Boston, General Manager Cronin of the Red Sox insisted no money changed hands.

Addition of Spence following the purchase of shortstop Vern Stephens and pitchers Jack Kramer and Jim Kinder from St. Louis would—seem to firmly establish Manager McCarthy's Sox as "the club to beat" in 1948.

McCarthy said he probably would alternate Spence, a .279 hitter with Washington in 147 games, with Sam Mele, Boston's rookie sensation of 1947.

Spence hits left and Mele bats right, an ideal switch combination. There also remains the possibility that Spence might be used at first, where he has played on occasion, to spell Jake Jones.

In return for Spence who is 32, the Sox gave a likely-looking young infielder to Washington in Kozar, who hit .240 for the Red Sox' southern association farm at New Orleans after a spring trial with the parent club. The 28-year-old infielder probably will fit into a regular job at Washington which sold Gerry Priddy to St. Louis earlier in the week. Culberson, a 26-year-old fancy fielder who batted .225 in 47 games for the Sox, is a capable center fielder.

That was the only deal announced

Wendell-Gooding Five Loses to Collegians

WENDELL, Dec. 11 — After victories over the Colleges of Idaho and Northwest Nazarene college (53-42 Monday night), Coach Elmer Eddington's Wendell-Gooding All-Stars bowed to the barnstorming Humboldt college quintet of Arcadia, Calif., 56-51, here tonight.

The game was hard fought throughout with the collegians holding a 23-19 advantage at the conclusion of the half.

Darrell Brown, the collegians' forward who was the third leading scorer in the nation last season, was held to seven field goals and a free throw for 15 points, but E. Olivera, his running mate, came through with four field goals and four free throws for 12 points, while Moses, a guard, had 10 points.

Wants to Fight

LONDON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Peter Kane, European bantamweight champion, is prepared to fight world titleholder Manuel Ortiz of El Centro, Calif., in the United States for expenses alone, his manager, Nel Tarleton, said today.

FITZ NAMED BRAVES' COACH

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Freddie Fitzsimmons, former big league pitching star who managed the Philadelphia Phillies from 1943 to 1945, has returned to baseball as a coach for the Boston Braves under Manager Billy Southworth.

Although Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves, and Freddie Dyer, pilot of the St. Louis Cards were in a long huddle. The Braves want a pitcher and the Cards are interested in an outfielder.

While the Spence deal was debated in corridors and the thickly-carpeted lobby of the Waldorf Astoria, the league held separate closed sessions that will lead up to a joint meeting under Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Concluding their separate winter meetings, both the American and National league arrived at decisions on the Pacific Coast's big league ambitions. There was no announcement from either circuit, pending the joint conclave, but it was reported that the answer would be "no."

The date of the 1948 all-star game, already awarded to the St. Louis Browns, was set for Tuesday, July 13.

Two Cage Teams Will Invade This Region Tonight

The Magic Valley will be invaded for a second time since the start of the new basketball season tonight—by Malad, which will play the Bobcats at Burley and by Almo scheduled to tangle with Declo.

One other game is on the bill—Eden playing at Wendell.

Arimo will be in the area for one game while Malad will tangle with the Pirates at Rupert Friday night.

Last week, Tremonton, Utah, invaded the Magic Valley, scoring victories at Oakley and Burley.

Hailey Opens With Victory Over Bellevue

BELLEVUE, Dec. 11—Coach Jack Boden's Hailey Wolverines opened their basketball season here last night and downed Bellevue, 28-23.

Jenkins, forward, paced the Hailey scorers with four field goals and two free throws for 10 points before going out on five personals. Buhler, who made five field goals in the junior varsity, came back to lead the Bellevue varsity with three field goals and a free throw.

An 8-3 advantage in the opening quarter helped Hailey as they were outscored by Bellevue in the last period after the game being fairly even during the intervening frames.

With Buhler proving the sparkplug, the Bellevue junior varsity won the preliminary, 25-22.

MARATHON PLANNED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 (AP)—A marathon race for runners from throughout the western hemisphere, as a warmup for the Olympic games, was approved by the police commission over a route similar to that used for the 1932 Olympics. It will be held next May 21, in conjunction with the eighth annual Los Angeles Coliseum relays.

Rally by Locals in Final Quarter Short

Coach J. S. "Monk" Halliday's Twin Falls Bruins discovered that they could play basketball like all the other boys in the final few minutes of the cage opener against the always strong Oakley Hornets and turned what had been a route into an interesting contest. However, the discovery came too late for the Bruins to win and Coach Howard Stone's quintet rang up a 42-32 triumph.

The Hornets jumped into a 2-7 first quarter lead and then went to the front 24-14 at the half. However, the Bruins came back to outscore their rivals, 12-10, in the third and had a 12-9 advantage in the final quarter.

Fowles Gets 12 Points

The Bruins' inability to stop Fowles and Strother, the Hornets' forwards, cost them the victory. The former scored eight field goals and two free throws for 18 points, while the latter got six field goals and a free throw for 13 points.

Bobby Long, forward, was the Bruins' leading scorer. He made five field goals and three free throws for 13 points, while Jerry Kleinkopf, at guard, came through with 10 points, one more than center Hubert Hendrix.

The consensus of the basketball critics was that the Bruins showed to better advantage than the Halliday quintet of a year ago and with a bit of confidence could stake themselves to a fair season.

Merlin Dewitt Winning One

Morris Roth made his debut as the Cubs coach a winning one. Rallying for nine points while holding their rivals to two in the final period, the Cubs won from the Oakley jayvee team, 31-25. Roth used about 30 players in the game.

Merlin Howard, forward, counted four field goals and a free throw to pace the cubs, while Whittle came through with four field goals and two free throws to top the Oakley team.

Walcott Will Begin Cashing

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Jersey Joe Walcott began cashing in on his near-victory over Joe Louis with personal appearance offers pouring in from all over the American continents.

At the same time, Promoter Felix Bocchicchio who holds exclusive rights to all Walcott ring activities said the 33-year-old father of six will not fight again until his rematch with Louis probably next June because "he could hurt a hand or have some accident that would cost him a fortune."

Walcott's first public appearance will be at Toronto next Monday as a guest referee. He has a similar engagement at Boston next Thursday and another in Reading, Pa., after Christmas.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — Favored stocks managed to keep the recovery move going on a selective basis today although light offerings stalled many market leaders.

Dealings frequently slowed after a fairly active start. Rails lost their rising steam. Activity quickened and quotations improved toward the last. Gains running to a point or so were well distributed at the close but numerous declines of as much clouded the general direction. Transfers tapered to about 900,000 shares.

Laggards included General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, Follansbee Steel, Goodrich, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, American Water Works, Chicago & Northwestern, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio and Northern Pacific.

Bonds were narrow with some rails advancing.

GOP Plan for Inflation Gets Okay of Panel

(From Page One)

on bank credits, extension of export controls, authority over transportation, livestock marketing weights, allocations of scarce commodities and trading on the grain exchanges.

Can Clear by Christmas

He said the Wolcott bill represents the Republican leadership's judgment on "the things that can be cleared by congress by Christmas." The final decision on the remainder of the President's program, he said, will have to wait until the regular session in January.

Told of Mr. Truman's statement that anything less than his 10-point program for curbing living costs will be inadequate, Wolcott said "we expected him to say that."

Mr. Truman told his news conference that he will submit to congress in a couple of days specific legislation covering the wage and price controls which he has requested.

Other Points Set

The President added that he also expects to submit other proposals to cover all the 10 points outlined in his first message to the special session.

Reminded that he had said at a previous news conference that the OPA was in the form of a police-state method, the President said the police state method arises only under dictatorships.

If congress directs price and wage controls in a free government by free legislative action, he said, that is the free government approach.

Demos "Passive"

The Republican plan appeared headed for quick congressional approval with Democratic members of congress indicating willingness to allow Republicans to pass their program and take the blame if it fails. They contend that the GOP plan to curb inflation by "voluntary" means will flop.

Built around a plan to let business make agreements to hold down rising living costs without incurring prosecution under the anti-trust laws, the GOP bill was introduced in the house late yesterday with the blessing of senate and house Republican leaders.

Foreclosure Suit Hits Airpark for Hagerman Valley

Foreclosure of the Thousand Springs Airport property at Hagerman to satisfy a lien was sought Thursday in district court.

The complaint was filed against Delbert Clampitt, his wife, Delsie, and the corporation on behalf of Dwight E. Stacey who asks judgment of $8,757.52 plus interest and costs.

According to the complaint, Stacey received a mortgage in return for a credit of $4,834.78 to Clampitt on Dec. 6, 1946. When interest was not paid a year later, the whole amount became collectible, the complaint states.

However, the note and mortgage were made subject to a first mortgage held by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, dated Aug. 8, 1946, according to the complaint.

In order to protect his second mortgage Stacey made a payment of $1,922.74 on the first mortgage on Dec. 4, 1947, the complaint alleges.

Stacey asks that the property be sold by the sheriff subject to the outstanding first mortgage, and that he receive payment of the debt to him. The complaint was filed by Attorney Ariel L. Crowley, Boise.

Engine Damaged By Anti-Freeze, Motorist Claims

Charging that a solution of anti-freeze badly damaged the engine of his pickup truck, Joseph F. Klimes has brought suit against the Gore Motor company, Twin Falls, for $113.94.

Klimes, a Jerome farmer, alleges the company installed two gallons of "Vegal Nyla" Nov. 5, 1947, with the assurance it would not damage the truck's circulatory system.

Within a week he began to have trouble and the engine "froze" Klimes contends. He had the truck towed to the Thorpe Motor company, Jerome, where it was found the anti-freeze had eaten through gaskets and affected the engine, the complaint alleges.

Klimes' complaint was filed by Attorney J. H. Barnes with Judge J. O. Pumphrey.

INDIAN AID RUSHED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP) — The senate public lands committee today gave top priority to a house-approved bill authorizing $2,000,000 for relief of Navajo and Hopi Indians in Arizona and New Mexico.

Settlers of New Zealand were Scotch, English, Irish, Dane, Norwegian, Swedish, and a few French, German, and American.

First Negligence Case Under New Law Slated Here

The first negligence action brought in his court under provisions of a 1947 statute is scheduled to be heard shortly by Judge J. O. Pumphrey.

Under the statute, Melvin H. Smith, Twin Falls, is suing H. R. Allred and his 16-year-old son, Robert, jointly for negligence in an automobile accident. He asks $92 damages and costs.

According to the complaint as filed by Attorney J. H. Barnes the owner of an automobile is equally liable with the operator if the car is being used with the consent, expressed or implied, of the owner.

The accident occurred Oct. 31, 1947, two miles south of Twin Falls on the airport road. Smith claims he was struck by the carelessly-driven automobile operated by the younger Allred.

A demurrer has been filed by Attorney T. M. Robertson who represents the Allreds.

Minor Auto Mishap Reported by Police

An auto skidded about six paces before it dented the left front fender of another car about 12:07 p. m. Wednesday, city police reported Thursday.

According to the report, a car driven by Edwin Lohmann, 253 Jackson street, skidded into a car driven by Vernon O. Morgan, 1216 Sixth avenue east, at the intersection of Second avenue and Third street east.

Making a single presidential flag requires the services of an expert seamstress for an entire month.

Three Cited for Traffic Offenses

Three men were cited to appear in Magic Valley courts Wednesday for traffic offenses after being stopped by State Police Officer M. J. Bays, jr.

Victor H. Haines, Jerome, was given a ticket for allegedly driving 78 miles an hour down the center of U. S. highway 30. He is to appear before Justice of the Peace Hazel Lanning, Filer, to answer the speeding citation.

Frank Kodesh and Harold R. Ginther, both route 1, Buhl, were cited to appear before Justice of the Peace C. E. Rudy, Filer. They allegedly ran the same stop sign four miles south of Buhl. The alleged offenses were committed over an hour apart, however, the patrolman said.

Club Owners Get License Warning

BOISE, Dec. 11 (UP)—Law Enforcement Commissioner R. O. Lewis said today he was having a hard time getting it across to retail liquor clubs that they must renew their licenses soon or face closure after Jan. 1 to wait for their new licenses.

He said only eight renewals out of 450 clubs have been issued to date. And he pointed out the clubs first must secure their beer licenses before the liquor licenses can be renewed.

Lewis said the clubs should follow this procedure: First get their city and county beer licenses, then the state beer licenses and finally the state liquor licenses. After that the clubs must get their city liquor licenses.

Teachers Warned They Must Keep Certificate Valid

All teachers must keep their regular certificates continuously valid, or meet the requirements of the new certification program, effective Jan. 1, County Supt. Doris E. Stradley announced Thursday.

She warned that all renewals must be received in the state office by Dec. 31, 1947, for those teachers whose regular certificates have elapsed.

In the event this regulation is not complied with, it will be necessary for such teacher to meet the new requirements in order to obtain a state teaching certificate, she said.

Club Owner Faces Liquor Sale Count

MOUNTAIN HOME, Dec. 12—Arraignment of Oscar Ford, owner of Highway 30 club, located about a mile outside the city limits, on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, will be held some time next week, Elmore county officials said Thursday.

At the same time Rex Gregg, an employee of the club, will be arraigned on a charge of gambling, officials said. Gregg, they added, is specifically charged with operating a game of 21.

On Tuesday John Swain, bartender at the club, was bound over to district court on a charge of illegal sale of liquor. County officials said the club, being located outside the corporate limits, could not obtain a license to sell liquor.

A charge of illegal sale of liquor against Harold Ford, holder of the beer license at the club, has been dismissed.

Kiw[anis] As[sist] To A[rmy]

In cooperation [with the Salvation] Army's Christmas [drive for the] needy, Herbert [West] announced plans for [the] Kiwanis club to assist [with] cash donations.

West outlined the part the club could play in assisting the Salvation Army when [he talked at] Thursday's luncheon meeting.

In addition to cash donations, Kiwanis club will assist in a Christmas program held in connection with the drive on Dec. [..] at Legion hall. The Kiwanis group will sing and present acts and the Kiwanis-sponsored Boy Scout troop will take part in the program, West said.

He urged all Kiwanians to bring their cash donations to the regular meeting Dec. 18.

A musical program at Thursday's meeting was presented by [..] Warn and Robert Grand, who played a guitar and accordian medley. Alta Bishop played a violin solo and Robert Wilson sang several numbers.

Guests for the meeting included F. G. Lamb, Chester L. Price, [..] Gibson, W. E. Peay, all Twin Falls, and James C. Hill, Salt Lake City.

Southwest Banks Protest Action to Cut Their Class

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.) — A group of southwestern bankers sought today to preserve their prestige as big city bankers.

The bankers were from Topeka and Kansas City, Kans., St. Joseph, Mo.; Dallas, Cleburne and Galveston and Waco, Tex. They told the federal reserve board yesterday that they stoutly objected to a board move which would, in effect, put the reserve city classification of the federal reserve system to the country bank classification.

They were told that if their banks were dropped to the country classification, they would only have to carry 14 per cent of reserves against demand deposits, rather than 20 per cent under their present status.

A board spokesman said that "the whole thing boiled down to the fact that the banks felt they would lose prestige." The board said the move was planned as a means of promoting uniformity in the matter of classifying banks. The federal reserve system is made up of three classifications, central reserve cities, reserve cities, and country banks.

The other cities involved, none of which sent protesting delegations, the board spokesman said, were Toledo, O.; Dubuque, Ia.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Peoria, Ill.; Odgen, Utah, and Spokane, Wash.

IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE

The Christmas Store

[illegible] Is Author of Poetry Works

[illegible] who read [illegible] collection of poems, "[illegible]," by Mrs. John W. Graham of Twin Falls will recognize in it something of the enchantment of southern Idaho; but, in a wider sense, it mirrors human emotions and impressions that are universal to make it good reading in Iowa, Connecticut or Idaho.

Just off the presses of Dorrance and company, Philadelphia, the attractively-bound, pocket-size book contains 43 poems that are favorites of Mrs. Graham's son, John L. Graham, assistant attorney general for the state of Colorado and now of Denver. To him, the book is dedicated.

Mrs. Graham, whose pen name is Edith MacDonald Graham, has resided in Twin Falls since 1911. That this is her home is reflected by one of the poems, "Home I Would Go." Here are a few random lines:

"There's an ache in my heart for home,
And it's home I would go again
In the spring's first rush. Silver sage
There will be through an April rain
And the willow tips mauve and rose
In the coulee's dip and the cries
Of young lambs from the lambing pens—"

Typical of the volume's universal appeal is the poem, "Enchantment,"

"The moon does glide from east to west
But why and wherefore no one knows,
But sometimes in the night she stoops
To lay enchantment in each rose."

Mrs. Graham now is completing another book of poems to be published in the near future. She also has several achievements to her credit in other fields, such as winning first prize for a short story in Idaho Writers' league competition. She received another first prize last fall in the poetry division of the league. For some time, Mrs. Graham was associate editor of the American Poetry magazine.

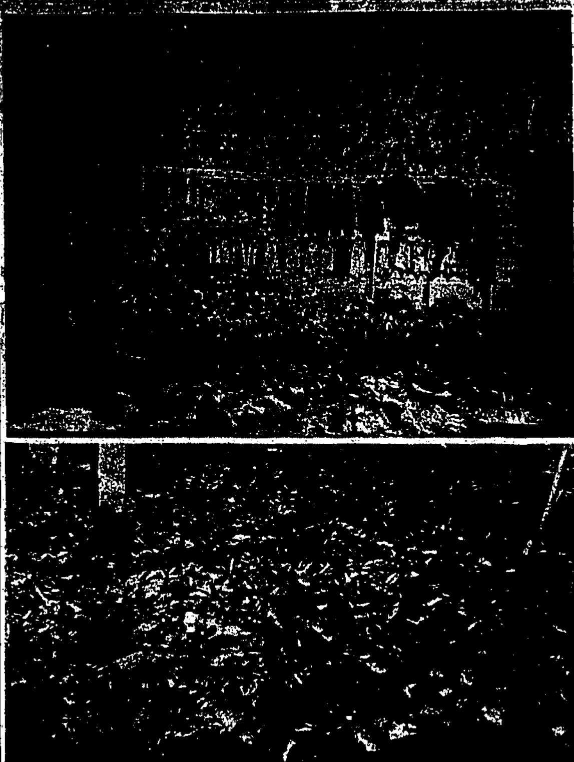
The new book is available in Twin Falls through the Cloe Book Store and a copy is also on hand at the public library.

Bronson Elected

BURLEY, Dec. 11—James Bronson, jr., Tuesday was elected director of the Burley irrigation district. He will represent the Springdale section.

Bronson, whose term is for three years, has been serving the unexpired term of R. J. Burke, who died.

K[illegible] Bird[illegible] (or [illegible]) With One Stone



A little known but thriving Magic Valley business is that operated by Casper Keck, Jerome fur buyer. Besides being a lucrative operation for Keck and the hunters and trappers who provide him with hides, it also serves to stimulate thinning out of the destructive jackrabbit population. Photo at top shows a section of his plant where skinning takes place, while picture at bottom shows a pile containing between 3,500 and 4,000 hides skinned out in one day. The jackrabbits are bought for 10 cents apiece and their hides dried and baled for shipment to furriers. An example of how well hunters can do is the recent case of two farmers who went out in a pick-up truck for a day, shot 330 rabbits and collected $33. (Photos by A. D. Larson, Jerome-staff engravings).

Jerome Man Claims He'll Buy Anything—and Usually Will

JEROME, Dec. 11—There's a man here in Jerome who claims he'll buy anything.

From the looks of his place of business, he isn't stretching his contention either.

And, from the appearance of his establishment, buying anything is paying big dividends. He's in the process of enlarging his building so he can buy more of "anything".

Casper Keck, who moved to Jerome from Marysville, Kans., in 1935, right now is buying rabbit pelts—buying them singly, in pairs and in bunches. Kicking around his place of business probably are 5,000 jack rabbit hides.

"Rabbit skins are used in felt hats, glove linings, coat linings, and it wouldn't surprise me any if they put in their appearance in fancy fur coats," Keck commented.

Keck, who has been in the "buying" business since 1940, pays 10 cents for "shot" jack rabbits and seven cents for poisoned rabbits. The carcasses of the shot rabbits he sells to mink and fox farms and to fish hatcheries.

Cheerful and good natured, Keck hires approximately 10 men. Last month he sold three carloads of scrap iron he had collected and three months ago he shipped out three carloads of lead taken from discarded batteries.

Keck says he'll buy even old bones and to prove it he tours slaughter houses and butcher shops looking for bargains.

Northwest Given Fund for Cancer

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 10 (AP)—A $100,000 allocation to the northwest from the Damon Runyan memorial cancer research fund will give Oregon and Washington each $40,000 and Idaho $20,000 for research, a committee decided here today.

Representatives from the three states met today with P. L. Jackson, publisher of the Oregon Journal, a vice president of the national fund and director for the northwest.

Mrs. Grant Hess, Boise, state commander of the American Cancer society, said disposition of that state's share has not been determined. Several cancer research projects have been undertaken in the state, but the University of Idaho will be consulted before specific allocations are decided, she said. The state has no medical school.

Teachers Join Meet in Glenns Ferry

GLENNS FERRY, Dec. 11—Fifty-nine Elmore county teachers met in Glenns Ferry Tuesday to hear a discussion on remedial reading in public schools.

Alvin Ritter, Boise junior college instructor, told the teachers present that sub-standard teaching methods and the mass production type of reading are responsible for the poor quality of reading among pupils.

Remedial reading, he said, is for those children who come to third grade without a sound foundation in reading ability. As a matter of fact, he added, any student in elementary school or college who is below standard in his reading should take remedial reading.

Rita Hanson, state elementary supervisor, demonstrated how teaching should be taught and stressed the use of phonics.

After the talks, Robert Palmer, Mountain Home high school instructor, reported on the leadership training school of the Idaho Education association in Boise last month.

Mrs. Eva Chatlin, Glenns Ferry, president of the Elmore county association, appointed the following committees: Miss Leona Balknap, Glenns Ferry, teacher welfare; W. W. Brice, Mountain Home, school finance; A. B. Boam, King Hill, membership and teacher relations; Robert Palmer, teacher retirement; Mrs. Beatrice Nelson, Hammett, improvement of instruction, and Ray Nims, Glenns Ferry, high institutions.

No 'Secession' Cry for Year; Reporter Gives Back History

By JOHN GUNTHER

BOISE, Dec. 11 (U.P.)— Nearly a year has gone by without the perennial cry from north Idaho calling, sometimes jokingly, for secession of that area from the south.

But this correspondent has found that if any easy method of secession was available, the chances are better than even that north Idaho would vote to join onto eastern Washington or western Montana.

Just as the deep south still is licking its wounds from the Civil war, north Idaho still holds a grudge against southern Idaho. Despite tremendous progress in transportation, the social and commercial bonds between the two areas are divided by the Salmon river barrier. The diversities of interests probably always will stand between complete unity of the two areas.

Only in the last legislature a resolution was introduced seeking to join north Idaho to eastern Washington—or rather to Washington. The resolution, of course, died a natural death in committee. But that was only a vestige of the bitter struggle of the north to tear itself away from the south in the territorial days. In fact only the pocket veto of President Cleveland prevented the joining of north Idaho to the territory of Washington back in 1887.

The fight between the north and the south makes interesting reading.

The "battle" started in 1865 when the territorial capital was moved from Lewiston to Boise. The northerners claimed the capital was stolen. Be as it may, the northerners really got mad.

The Idaho territorial legislature in 1865-66 addressed a memorial to congress asking that a portion of Utah be annexed to Idaho territory. A new northern territory was to be established out of the Idaho panhandle, eastern Washington and western Montana. It would be known as "Columbia territory." But Montana territory wouldn't give up the rich Bitter Root valley and what turned out to be a rich mining belt. The secession movement gained force in 1873. The Washington legislature passed a memorial asking congress to annex north Idaho to the Washington territory. North Idaho thought it was a good idea and even the south didn't put up a fight. Petitions were filed with congress from 1872 to 1877 but nothing happened. And by 1877 south Idaho had decided it didn't want to be severed from the north. In 1878 at the general election, the north voted overwhelmingly in favor of joining up with Washington. But the adamant south prevented congressional action.

Then in March, 1887, the senate passed a house bill which would have admitted Washington territory to statehood with north Idaho attached. All that was needed was the President's signature. But Governor Stevenson of Idaho territory was close to President Cleveland and he held up the bill until congress adjourned. That meant the measure lost by a pocket veto.

The next year in 1888, a bill was introduced in congress to admit Idaho territory to the Union. The south began mollifying the north. It agreed to locate the state university at Moscow. There was other concessions. Then in 1889, congress admitted Washington to the union without north Idaho. There was nothing for that section to do but to join with the south and Idaho was made a state in 1890.

Auto Owners Get Gasoline Cards

[illegible] Dec. 11 (AP)—[illegible] are mighty worried because [illegible] and one of them will have to [illegible] this year: older, home [illegible] January first.

In Japan, a new calendar year adds a year to everyone's age. A baby is considered one year old the day he is born; and if he happens to be born the last day of December, he becomes two years old the next day.

The information about the worried ladies scurrying for year's-end husbands comes from one Masao Sasaki, a 32-year-old bachelor who works in a private matrimonial agency operating under the name "Marriage Salvation."

Oversleeps Angle

Sasaki had overlooked the new year-age angle until one of his clients—who was losing that dollar-like shyness that made Japanese women so charming before the war—told him to hurry up and get her a husband.

Sasaki thumbed his index cards of applicants ready to pay solid cash fees for the right sort of males. Mostly, they're people in financial difficulty as the result of the war. The old, solid families still do their own matchmaking.

Reads "Applications"

He read aloud:

"Wanted, wife—One with 500,000 yen ($10,000) assets. Appearance disregarded. Applicant . . . 40 years old, open-hearted and trying hard to re-establish his business.

"College student—Has exhausted all resources for education. On brink of abandoning same. Wants assistance. Age 24. Will tolerate wife up to 30."

One woman wanted a husband with a three-room house in Tokyo. "Hopeless," said Sasaki. "She's 27, with parents and four brothers." She shuddered. "The whole family wants to filter into the bridegroom's house."

Sasaki said he gets mates for about 20 per cent of his applicants.

Bayonet Slayer's Cell Yields Knife

SPOKANE, Dec. 11 (AP)—Sheriff Ralph M. Smith said that a crudely fashioned, but razor-sharp knife had been removed from the county jail cell occupied by Delbert F. (Frenchy) Vlager, who has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the bayonet slaying of Dr. R. A. Hahn of Spokane.

The sheriff made the disclosure after the former hearing aid salesman was removed from the county jail to be taken to the state penitentiary.

Smith said the knife had been made from a steel spoon and leather taken from Vlager's belt. It was found under Vlager's mattress, the sheriff said, in a routine "shakedown" Saturday.

"Frenchy admitted he owned the knife," said the sheriff. "He said he was going to use it to peel onions."

Smith said he had ordered 25 dozen plastic spoons for the jail, to forestall any future incidents of that sort.

For President? Ameche Says

[illegible] Dec. 11 (AP)—[illegible] about [illegible] immediately [illegible] and making the Republican [illegible] Ike Eisenhower.

[illegible] about the only explanation of Eisenhower's plans to delay until around May 1 taking residence as a civilian in the president's house at Columbia university, New York.

Columbia announced Tuesday that Eisenhower would move in then and would begin work as president of the university on June 7. After the annual commencement exercises on June 1.

Army sources said Eisenhower was expected to take two months leave after turning over to Gen. Omar N. Bradley the office of army chief of staff. Plotting the Eisenhower close together, it appears therefore that he will remain active as chief of staff until about March 1 and will not complete his leave and become a civilian until about May 1.

Eisenhower scarcely can be announced for the Presidential nomination while he remains in the army. By May 1 it will be too late to begin any major effort to win convention support in the states where there are significant presidential primaries.

But, Ike is being counted more than ever now as willing to make the presidential race if the GOP wants to draft him. Congressional Republicans are mulling over a va-

Crippled Man Is Found Murdered

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 11 (AP)—A well-dressed, crippled young man was found dead on a bridge northwest of nearby Worthington last night, and Sheriff's Investigator Henry Keely said it apparently was murder.

Keely said the body appeared to have been thrown from a speeding automobile, with the intent of hiding it in the muddy Olentangy river. The victom's throat was slashed, presumably by a pen knife, Keely said.

The victim was identified tentatively from papers found in his pockets as Elmo G. Rice, of Columbus.

Highest Dam Proposed for Idaho Project

BAKER, Ore., Dec. 11 (U.P.)—The U. S. bureau of reclamation today proposed to build the world's highest concrete dam in the Snake river gorge to produce electricity and irrigate large areas of Idaho and eastern Oregon.

Preliminary and tentative plans for a multiple-purpose reclamation and power project were outlined to the Columbia inter-agency committee by E. N. Torbert, regional planning engineer for the bureau's northwest headquarters at Boise, Ida.

Torbert said the bureau of reclamation, on the basis of present studies, will seek authorization for construction of a dam 742 feet high—16 feet higher than Hoover dam—near the upper end of Hells Canyon of the Snake, 108 miles upstream from Lewiston on the boundary line between Idaho and Oregon.

The dam, power house and installation at present day prices would cost approximately $313,000,000. The dam itself would be 1,740 feet long at the crest, contain more than 4,000,000 cubic yards of concrete, store almost 4,500,000 acre-feet of water in a 100-mile reservoir and generate about 900,000 kilowatts.

Torbert said the bureau proposed to sell power and use the revenue to help develop irrigation projects which otherwise could not be constructed because of inability of prospective water users to repay the entire construction costs.

Methodists May Double Foreign Missions Staff

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—A program to nearly double the foreign missionary staff of the Methodist church as well as the present financial aid of the church for missionary purposes was presented yesterday to the board of missions and church extension.

The proposals, made at the board's annual session, came from Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer of New York, Executive secretary of the board's division of foreign missions and for 28 years head of the denomination's overseas service.

Dr. Diffendorfer asked for 595 new missionaries and an annual increase of $3,155,000, boosting the four-year grand total to $16,741,165. The money is needed, he said, for new buildings, equipment and other facilities for medical, agricultural, evangelistic and educational services overseas.

Idaho Citizen Income Triple That of 1940

BOISE, Dec. 11—The income of the average Idaho citizen is nearly triple what it was in 1940, the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce stated. Per capita income in Idaho in 1940 was $440 while it was estimated at $1,283 in 1946 and will go even higher in 1947.

The state chamber's report was based on the most recent monthly review of the federal reserve bank of San Francisco which showed that total income payments to individuals in Idaho in 1940 amounted to $223,000,000 and rose to $558,000,000 in 1946. The 1947 crop in Idaho, one of the largest on record, is expected to boost agricultural payments to individuals even higher.

In 1940, per capita income in Idaho was the lowest of seven states in the 12th federal reserve district which includes Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and Utah.

In 1946, Idaho, with $1,343 per capita income, was ahead of Arizona with $995, Oregon with $1,185, and Utah with $1,063. Nevada has consistently led the seven states with $232, in 1940 and $1,703 in 1946. Idaho's per cent of change, 182.2 per cent increase, was the highest for any of the seven states.

"In California, Idaho and Nevada, per capita income payments rose in 1946 over 1945," the federal reserve report stated, "but they declined in the other states of the 12th district. In all states per capita income payments were much higher in 1946 than in 1940."

Short Course On Cattle to Open Jan. 26

MOSCOW, Dec. 11.—(AP)—A three-day short course for cattle breeders will begin Jan. 26 on the University of Idaho campus under the direction of the department of animal husbandry, C. W. Hickman, department head, announced today.

"We have request requests from breeders for this kind of course," Hickman said. "This year we are finding it possible to offer three full days of instruction to those who would like to attend the classes."

Hickman said instruction would center around feeding, fitting, and showing with additional information given in care of the cattle's feet, breeding problems, disease control, registration and herd records, and the development of beef calves.

Instructors will include John Burns, well-known Lewiston herdsman, and John Mathieson, herdsman for the Brown sheep ranch at Sandpoint will assist W. J. Fiorsone in giving pointers in fitting and showing cattle. R. R. Miller, Spokane, formerly with the American Hereford association, will discuss procedure in keeping herd records.

Service Planned

RUPERT, Dec. 11—The Methodist Youth Fellowship is sponsoring a candlelight service at the Methodist church Sunday.

The theme is the Christmas story depicted in tableau with carols by the choir in the background. The tableau is under the direction of Mrs. Robert Seaquist, Mrs. Howard Moffatt and Margaret Cotter.

Freedom Held On Certificates

BOISE, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Governor Robert Smylie, Attorney General Graham Thomas, today warned Idaho citizens they simply cannot trust teacher certificates by Dec. 31 or be forced to accept replacements for the new state certification law enacted by the 1947 legislature.

Across-the-board school administrators and trustees to advise teachers of such requirements "in order that undue handicaps will not occur."

Brand Panel Sets Full Enforcement Of 'Butcher Bill'

BOISE, Dec. 10 (UP)—The Idaho state brand board said today it will start rigorous enforcement Jan. 1 of a 1939 law requiring inspection and stamping of all beef killed for market or for consumption.

State Brand Inspector O. J. Shaw said the 1939 law, commonly known as the "butcher bill," has not heretofore been properly enforced. The brand board was created by the 1947 legislature and has sweeping powers to enforce laws designed to check the theft of cattle.

Shaw said the "butcher bill" requires all slaughterers to pay a nominal fee for all beef carcasses and hides. All meat and hides must be stamped by the brand inspection department. Restaurants and cafes were warned they must keep a record of all beef purchased and make sure that each quarter of beef is properly stamped.

Brand board members are R. J. Hawes, Twin Falls, chairman; Lyman Ipson, Malad, and Carl E. Harris, Lewiston.

Christmas to Be Something Special to Vet

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Christmas will be something special this year for former Lieut. William W. Collins, 30-year-old decorated combat veteran, formerly of Yazoo City, Ark.

A year ago Collins came back from Germany to the Fairfield-Suisun army air base for discharge to find his wife had divorced him and had taken their three children.

In August, Collins was sentenced to 25 years at hard labor as a deserter after he went AWOL to find his children.

Then the army discovered that President Truman's general amnesty order of May, 1947, had released him from the army and that his courtmartial was all a mistake.

But the army dug up a $150 pay voucher, which Collins signed as a captain instead of a lieutenant, and kept him in the Presidio guardhouse on a forgery charge until last month when he got out on bail.

Three weeks ago Collins married a girl who helped him fight for his freedom, and landed a job as a store manager.

Today, Assistant District Attorney Joseph Karesch went before U. S. Commissioner Francis St. J. Fox and asked dismissal of the forgery complaint growing out of the voucher signature.

Collins said he has some unfinished business—he still would like to find his three children.

PTA SPONSORS PLAY

RUPERT, Dec. 11—Lincoln PTA will sponsor a play at the Wilson theater Friday and Saturday.

Truck Committee In First Meeting

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—A five-man committee, appointed by Gov. C. A. Robins under a state concurrent resolution adopted by the last legislature, held its first meeting yesterday for the purpose of studying the resolution and duties to be performed by the committee, Rep. L. B. Jordan, Grangeville, chairman, announced.

Under the resolution the committee is required to investigate the current tax rates and license rates of interstate and intrastate trucking and stage lines for the purpose of making a comparison with tax and license rates between the state of Idaho and surrounding states.

Facts and findings by the committee with recommendations will be submitted to the governor and the senate and house of representatives at the next regular session.

Members of the committee are Norman V. Stadfield, Pocatello; D. R. Bradshaw, Wendell; W. B. Joy, Boise; Sen. Leonard Ficen, Orofino, and Jordan.

Jordan said a second meeting will be held by the committee in Boise, Jan. 29.

RETURN HOME

SPRINGDALE, Dec. 11—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Worthington have returned home from Montana where they were called by the illness and death of Harvey Boylance, a former resident of the Minidoka project.

Young Solons Delay Support Of GOP Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A group of freshman Republican senators decided last night that before committing themselves to support it, they want to know more about the four-point anti-inflation program agreed on yesterday by the party's congressional leaders.

Senator Baldwin, R., Conn., speaking on behalf of the first terms, told a news conference the group will express this opinion to the Senate Republican policy committee headed by Senator Taft, O.

Baldwin met with reporters after a four-hour session called to discuss the GOP program announced earlier by Taft and Rep. Martin, Mass., Republican leader.

Baldwin said the session read the bill for the first time at their meeting last night and that there were some parts they did not understand.

Baldwin said "we want to know more about the bill before committing ourselves." He added, however, that none of the senators had expressed outright opposition.

Army's Pilots Urged to Be More Careful

HONOLULU, Dec. 11 (AP)—The death of Ambassador George Atcheson, jr., in a plane crash near Oahu last August has resulted in recommendations that the U. S. air force take greater safety precautions for passengers and crews on flights over water on desolate areas.

This was disclosed in answer to questions submitted by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and the Associated Press seeking more information about the accident, which the air force attributed to fuel exhaustion caused by too high power settings on engines.

Brig. Gen. V. H. Kimble, who made an investigation on orders of the air force, made recommendations in his report which, following the usual custom, is "classified." He recommended:

Fuel consumption charts be established by the air force for over-water or desolate areas; cushions and mattresses be stuffed with some buoyant material; pilots and crew members of the air force be thoroughly briefed on search and rescue procedure for their particular locality with emphasis on the importance of radio and air discipline.

The barking sands air base on the Hawaiian island of Kauai northwest of Oahu be established as a suitable alternate to Oahu bases; consideration be given to requiring a one-man life raft for each passenger and crew member on extended over-water flights; all aircraft be equipped with suitable flares for over-water night flights.

The air force said no check was made of gasoline consumption by the pilot of the Atcheson plane on its flight to Kwajalein from Guam, where a new engine was installed, nor were there any fuel consumption records kept on the flight logs from Tokyo.

Child Is Born on Santa Fe Special

LA JUNTA, Colo., Dec. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Winifred Miller, Santa Fe, N. M., gave birth to a six-pound eight-ounce girl in a berth on the Santa Fe railroad's "California Limited" about 30 minutes before it was due in La Junta.

Three women attended Mrs. Miller, the mother of three other children, and after the train's arrival she and the baby were taken to Mennonite hospital where they were reported doing fine.

A-Bomb Plant Strike Threat Comes to End

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The atomic energy commission announced today a CIO union and the management of a strike-threatened atomic energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., have agreed on a new contract.

Details of the agreement were not available from the commission.

Its statement said a new contract was agreed upon as a result of "give and take of negotiation."

Plans for the first strike in the history of an atomic energy plant were shelved by a CIO union Monday night at the urgent request of the government.

Instead of walking out when a contract expired, local 288 of the Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers agreed to continue work at the huge plant, and negotiate with the Carbide and Carbon Chemical corporation for higher wages and other concessions sought by 2,800 employes.

Largest of three in the war-born community, the plant was described as a project of "critical importance" to the national welfare by government officials.

Pilots Asked To Shun Plan For Walkout

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Rep. Carl Hinshaw, R., Calif., said today the leader of the Air Line Pilots association (AFL) threatens to imperil national security over a petty issue and urged the fliers to ignore an order to strike against United Air Lines if one is issued.

Hinshaw, a pilot and vice-chairman of the congressional air policy board, described David L. Behncke of Chicago, president of the union, as an "irresponsible leader."

The congressman said he will ask President Truman to invoke the fact finding provisions of the railway labor act, which automatically would delay a strike at least 60 days, if Behncke calls out the pilots.

A strike vote has been in progress more than a week. Failure of mediation efforts by the national mediation board was followed by an arbitration offer, which Behncke so far has not accepted.

Santa Is Excused From Jury Duty

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP)—"Santa Claus" was excused from jury duty because of pressing business with the kids.

Subpoenaed as a juror in a city court trial, he told city Judge Walter J. Ralihan:

"I'd just as soon serve some other time, judge. I wouldn't want to disappoint those kids."

"How can I refuse?" observed Ralihan as he excused J. Franklin Talbott, a white-haired, department store Santa Claus.

Idahoan Among 26 Officers Honored

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kans., Dec. 11 (AP)—Twenty-six U. S. army officers received decorations in a ceremony before the 500 officers of the command and general staff college.

The awards included:

Legion of merit to Lieut.-Col. Avery W. Masters, Bingham Canyon, Utah, for service as an artillery battalion commander on Leyte and Okinawa, 1944 and 1945.

Chinese air force commendation to Lieut.-Col. Oscar B. Steeley, Pocatello, Ida., (mother now in Denver, Colo.) for meritorious services rendered in connection with the training program of the Chinese air force in the United States.

Polish War Bride Will Go on Trial

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Dec. 11 (AP) — Mrs. Jadwiga Curtin, Polish war bride, and Howard Durham, formerly of Reedley, Calif., are to appear in justice court here Monday morning for preliminary hearings on charges of murder.

The two were charged in connection with the slaying of George Conner of Redwood City, shot to death near Palo Alto six weeks ago in a car in which officers also found Mrs. Curtin.

The state contends the two worked together and that it was their custom for Mrs. Curtin to lure men out of saloons to an isolated spot where Durham would hold them up.

"MAN OF YEAR"

HOUSTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Gov. Beauford Jester last night received the annual "man of the year" award from Kappa Sigma, his college fraternity.

Twin Jew and Arab Towns Normal Again

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, Dec. 11 (AP)—Cities of Arab Jaffa and Jewish Tel Aviv, close neighbors and blood enemies, have returned to normal—at least on the surface.

Mayors and bootblacks agree in both cities on two fundamentals:

Arabs are scared, mad and bewildered.

Jews are scared, glad and determined.

The impression gained after a day of touring by-streets in both cities is that, because both are scared, fighting may dwindle and cease.

But, because of Arab anger over partition and Jewish determination to fulfill the United Nations promise of statehood, fighting is quite likely to start again.

Mayor Yousef Haikel declared his opposition to "brigandry by both Arabs and Jews" and added:

"Thinking Arabs are trying to stop both sides from further bloodshed. We Arabs of Jaffa wish to wait in peace and make no disturbance until we are called to action by our leaders."

Other Arab sources said the Jewish army, Hagana, had asked for a truce and had ceased firing.

Railroads Asked To Cut Demands

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A representative of the state public utility commissions suggested that the railroads halve their demand for a 20 per cent freight rate increase.

R. V. Gilbert, transportation consultant for the national association of railroad and utilities commissioners, appeared before the interstate commerce commission to oppose the proposed jump in rates. The commission has already temporarily granted one-third of the requested 20 per cent boost.

Gilbert disputed railroad forecasts of lower volume of freight and passenger business next year.

Planning New French Crisis

By Frederic Sondern, Jr.
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The fall of the cabinet in France will prove a snare and a delusion if it succeeds in any way in the efforts of the allies to prevent the spread of totalitarianism in western Europe.

The same people who said the recent Communist turmoil and battles Christmas now expect the communists to spend the next several weeks regrouping their forces for another outburst before the American aid program can be made effective.

The communists were forced into an untimely effort by the desire to have maximum impact on the London foreign ministers' conference and the special session of the U. S. congress. But next time, probably, they will be able to center their entire effort on crippling France's economy to the point that the cost of interim aid and getting the Marshall plan started will be greatly increased thus endangering the program's ultimate success.

The firmness recently displayed by the French government in the defensive mood, then, be continued now in an economic offensive to repair the damage as quickly as possible and prepare its positions for the next attack. The French determination to drive out subversive foreign influences is an important contribution to this campaign. The more that Russian control of French communism is exposed the more the French people can be depended upon to turn away from the economic blandishments of the totalitarians. Once observers always have felt communist support among the French people was based on economic rather than political factors.

The realization that current quiet in France is only a brief lull is not the only reason for pressing countermeasures. The Rome strike call shows clearly that the situation in Italy has not yet reached its peak. The French and Italian situations complement each other.

Nelson Will Head Chemicals Firm

PORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Donald M. Nelson, former chief of the war production board and until Monday president of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers, said here he would devote himself to an electric-chemical process for preservation of food.

Nelson said, "this new progress is going to revolutionize the food industry. It will do for food what freezing now does—only it will do it without freezing."

At Montgomery, Nelson said he would become chairman of the board of Electrical Chemical Research company, New York, assuming his duties Jan. 1.

Changed Mind

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—Walter R. Davis, one-handed veteran who recently resigned to fill out an loyalty questionnaire, as an employe of the veterans' administration, changed his mind. He filled out the document and then resigned.

His new decision, he said, was reached when "disloyal groups" were "attempting to make capital of my actions."

Bargaining Right For Union Signing Non-Red Pledge

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—In the first test of its kind under the Taft-Hartley law, a union which submitted non-communist affidavits required by the act has won bargaining rights formerly held by a union which refused to comply.

The national labor relations board announced that 23 of 25 production workers employed by Sigmond Cohn Manufacturing company in New York voted Nov. 17 for the International Association of Machinists as their bargaining representative.

The machinists' union, an independent, was the first major labor organization to meet Taft-Hartley law requirements and qualify to use NLRB services.

The CIO Wholesale and Warehouse Workers previously had represented the workers but the NLRB, in a precedent-establishing decision a month ago, refused to permit that union to appear on the ballot.

The Cohn company manufactures metal products.

Upset Stomachs Yield Inches of Gas and Bloat

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got Brother Tom's Medicine, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise BROTHER TOM'S MEDICINE to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial from a man living right here in this vicinity.

BROTHER TOM'S MEDICINE is a proven formula containing medicinal juices from 5 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish intestines and as a diuretic on kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—get BROTHER TOM'S MEDICINE. Sold by Trollinger Pharmacy here in Twin Falls.—Adv.

Cut in Idaho Cattle, Sheep Unnecessary

BOISE, Dec. 11 (AP)—The need for edible grains in the present European food emergency does not call for reduction of Idaho's cattle and sheep, R. F. Rinehart, University of Idaho extension animal husbandman, stated today.

Idaho stockmen are favorably situated in the present emergency, Rinehart said, because lambs, dry cows, and two and three-year-old steers are going direct to slaughter from forest range and fall pasture. Many Idaho good slaughter cattle have never been fed grain.

In addition to a good supply of hay, Idaho has an abundant supply of by-product feeds which are used to advantage in fattening cattle. Rinehart said beet-tops, pastured or siored as silage, wet or dry pulp, and molasses may be used to reduce grain and hay requirements. Cull peas, beans, or potatoes can also be used as part of the ration, Rinehart added.

ATTENDS MEETING

RUPERT, Dec. 11—Carl Huntington, high school principal, left for Spokane, Wash., Wednesday to attend the meeting of the Northwestern Accrediting Association of Secondary Schools.

Bandit Wields Liquor Container

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—A bandit, robbing a Preston Hollow store, took time out to wait on a customer.

Two men entered the store and held Tom Erwin, a clerk, in a back room, while the customer helped himself to the cash register.

A woman customer came in, also ordered a bottle of sherry. The bandit wrapped the sherry, took her money, gave her change from the cash register, and she departed.

The bandits then departed, too—with $1,200.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Turrible, Turrible, Turrible!"

Ben Ryder is back! After twenty years in Capital City, Ben has retired and come to enjoy life in the family home on Maple Street.

First thing Ben does is write us complaining how Our Town has changed. "Why, there's no sand in the streets to sink up to your ankles in!" he says. "No pistol fending in the town square! No moonshine liquor on Saturday night brawls! Nothing to do but settle for a temperate glass of beer in a law-abiding tavern!"

"Turrible, turrible, turrible," Ben says, "now a town can go run down in twenty years!" And then Ben takes his tongue out of his cheek and tells us how proud he is of the orderly, law-abiding atmosphere he finds here.

And from where I sit, you can point to that growing preference for a moderate, wholesome glass of beer as one reason folks in Our Town are so temperate and neighborly and well-behaved.
